A 'naughty pickle' is how I'd best describe myself. I think fun and laughter is the whole point of life.

~Celia Imrie

Single by choice, just not my choice.

~Celia Imrie

I would do nearly anything for a laugh, to tell the truth. And I'm a particular favourite with young men with earrings.

~Celia Imrie

Anorexia taught me to love life and to realise that starving yourself to death is a bloody waste of time. It's awful and it hurts so many people around you. It's a terribly selfish thing to do.

~Celia Imrie

My mother Diana was a true-blue aristocrat, descended from William the Conqueror and listed in 'Burke's Peerage.' My father David, from a poor Scottish family, was a doctor.

~Celia Imrie

While other girls swooned over The Beatles and the Rolling Stones, I worshipped Rudolf Nureyev and Isadora Duncan.

~Celia Imrie

I've had to spend an awful lot of my life trying to pretend I'm not posh. Although once I open my mouth, I rather let things out the bag.

~Celia Imrie

If I ever married, I know I would dread the daily sound of the key in the door and the casual expectancy of 'Hello! I'm home!'

~Celia Imrie

I've made great friends through acting. When I'm with Victoria Wood and Julie Walters, we have grand fun. We can make each other howl with laughter because we know each other so well.

~Celia Imrie

I long for the day where we don't have to talk about our age as actresses.

~Celia Imrie

I know if I had the chance of going aboard the Titanic in those days, I would have gone - I know I would have. I adore going on the Queen Mary - I think it's the only way to travel from New York.

~Celia Imrie

I watch people from the top of buses who don't know they're being watched. It's quite fascinating.

~Celia Imrie

I love Monet - I've nicknamed him King Blob. When you go up to the painting, it's a series of blobs - amazing.

~Celia Imrie

Anyone who goes on the stage is a show-off, aren't they? Acting's weird.

~Celia Imrie

I'm a bit of a fraud, really, as I didn't study acting at a drama school.

~Celia Imrie

Anorexia is an awful thing, but you get yourself into it, and only you can get yourself out of it.
