Most of the time I meet my trainer at the gym and we do a lot of everything: weights circuit with cardio, football drills, sprinting with weights on the treadmill.

~Charisma Carpenter

Oh heck yeah, I totally would love to have a Phantom Dennis in real life.

~Charisma Carpenter

Sure, I'd take the responsibility of queen any day.

~Charisma Carpenter

This is funny because I just had a job over the summer for VH1, a project I did called Strange Frequency where I got to play a Goth rock band singer.

~Charisma Carpenter

So I begged, half way into season two, for them to let me cut my hair.

~Charisma Carpenter

I don't think that they know fully what's happening with Miss Match so therefore I don't know how many more if any, if the show's even gonna keep going.

~Charisma Carpenter

I am a single mom and I'm the breadwinner and I have to work and I have to do these things and that's just the way it is. I don't think my son even knows any different.

~Charisma Carpenter

When you gain 50 pounds during pregnancy like I did, you fear that you'll never get back in shape

~Charisma Carpenter

I'm a mixed breed and hope to live longer because of it.

~Charisma Carpenter

When I was first starting out, and I was less established, I was really concerned about being typecast.

~Charisma Carpenter

There's a pretty good chance that you're going to go down when you're on a motorcycle or if you're sky diving or whatever, but that happened before I even got this job, and I haven't sky dived since.

~Charisma Carpenter

Sometimes decisions get made and it ends up being God doing for you what you couldn't do for yourself.

~Charisma Carpenter

I had been warned not to get on a motorcycle, sort of. I think there is a clause in most general basic contracts to keep yourself in one piece and not alter your looks without telling them first.

~Charisma Carpenter

I wrapped that Monday and started on my third episode for Miss Match on Thursday of that same week and we just wrapped yesterday cause it was split over the holiday.

~Charisma Carpenter

Always trust your gut and your intuition will steer you right, every time.

~Charisma Carpenter

I wasn't willing to be a victim. I only wanted to survive, and I only wanted to get through.

~Charisma Carpenter

Nothing beats a really rough massage. I really hate a man who goes all limp when he's doing a massage. Who needs a soft massage? Just get in there and rub me hard or don't bother.

~Charisma Carpenter

No, I'm a horrible singer, I'm awful.

~Charisma Carpenter

So, I'm happy to do that because it's a wonderful working relationship but I will be going out for pilot season for half hour work and that's the gamble I'm taking.

~Charisma Carpenter

Let me tell you, hitting 40 is not fun.

~Charisma Carpenter

My heart is in television, just because it's been so good to me.

~Charisma Carpenter

I don't think I've ever really pursued telling my story, but I think things come to you at the right time.

~Charisma Carpenter

I can keep my head together in a crisis.

~Charisma Carpenter

You can take the girl out of Vegas, but you can't take the Vegas out of the girl.

~Charisma Carpenter

I don't mind playing the same character, but if it's not well done, then I'm not interested.

~Charisma Carpenter

I really wish I could sing so I could front a band, because that would be a dream come true, totally. I want to sing. Can't do it though.

~Charisma Carpenter

I had my heart set on becoming an English teacher, but stumbled into acting after meeting a theatrical agent in my dad's restaurant in San Diego.

~Charisma Carpenter

There are so many heroes just walking around in everyday life. It blows me away.

~Charisma Carpenter

Today my son and I went for a stroll and saw the sea lions and watched the sunset and played ball in the park with our dog.

~Charisma Carpenter

I miss THE WALLFLOWERS. Great band. Wrote my first Fan letter to them. No response.
