All we can do now is try to prevent secondary damage by relieving pressure on the brain caused by the initial injury. There is no reparative treatment for traumatic brain injury.

~Charlie Cox

It's very, very tempting to make a superhero film or show and make it about the powers.

~Charlie Cox

I am incredibly self-deprecating. It stems from self-doubt.

~Charlie Cox

It's so easy to become obsessed with the film industry and recognition that we can forget that we are not saving the world. We are just actors trying to entertain people.

~Charlie Cox

What the writers do, and we hopefully can bring to life, is that they present characters who, on the surface, aren't always heroic and their acts aren't always devoid of selfishness.

~Charlie Cox

We had no idea that this show [Daredevil] would be as popular as it was, but with the benefit of hindsight, one thing I can say is that I think that was a really, really smart move.

~Charlie Cox

In other films and TV shows, we might say, "Well, they're just evil." In our show [Daredevil], we're trying to say, "There's bad actions, but not necessarily bad people."

~Charlie Cox

Of all the London theatres, the Donmar is the dream.

~Charlie Cox

If the show encourages an audience to ask the question, "Is this character's emotional response to this situation valid?" then that's a really good question to ask.

~Charlie Cox

Fame terrifies me. I can say that with honesty. You're terrified that, when people know the real you, they won't like you.

~Charlie Cox

When you think about justifiable anger in one's personal life, we look at those scenarios in everyday life and through our story with a superhero, we heighten them.

~Charlie Cox

I love New York, but I have to admit that I feel very English, and I do miss that sense of history that you have everywhere in Britain.

~Charlie Cox

Claire Danes is lovely and a really great actress.

~Charlie Cox

I'm a London lad, but I'm fascinated by America. I want to take a motorcycling trip across the country and see those wide open spaces.
