Quite often in life, when a tragic event arrives it becomes a springboard for mirroring all other things in one's life that one hasn't come to terms with.

~Charlotte Rampling

If words don't have vibration behind them, and a real feeling behind them, then they're just words.

~Charlotte Rampling

I can occupy myself quite easily with what's going on inside me.

~Charlotte Rampling

I know I have great inner strength; I always have. I can blank things out, cut people out, and I know that I can go and live in a cave on my own if necessary.

~Charlotte Rampling

European films were what it was about for me - the sensations I needed, the depth, the storytelling, the characters, the directors, and the freedom that you can't really find in American films

~Charlotte Rampling

You go through a period of immense pain when reality meets the dream.

~Charlotte Rampling

I can be seen as not being very communicative, or rather mysterious, or distant, or rather cold - all those things. Yeah, I know I can give off that impression. So I am that, too.

~Charlotte Rampling

Training is fabulous because it gives you a basis, a strong structure, so that when you're unbelievably nervous and you think that you can't get a word out, you will get the word out.

~Charlotte Rampling

There's always a time for change, and you should never be frightened of it.

~Charlotte Rampling

You can't fool an audience with lots of bits and pieces. You have to lead them somewhere.

~Charlotte Rampling

I regret not having enough training, I trained for a year at The Royal Court, but I very quickly went off to do films and television.

~Charlotte Rampling

I am not qualified to be a Dame. To be Dame you have to represent England in a way that I don't.

~Charlotte Rampling

To grieve is something extremely difficult, we don't even know how to begin to grieve, and I don't know how you can be taught to grieve.

~Charlotte Rampling

There are moments when things just break apart and not really for very valid reasons, either. But they just change your life and make you go in different directions.

~Charlotte Rampling

I am fascinated by the whole process of what it's like to be alive, whether it's unbelievably uncomfortable and horrible or whether it's quite nice

~Charlotte Rampling

Cinema d'auteur, cinema about people, about emotions. About la difficult  d' atre, the difficulty of being, existential problems. That's what the nouvelle vague is. The early '60s was all about that.

~Charlotte Rampling

The process of filmmaking is very musical, you get into the rhythm and the rhythmic of how someone is, especially with Woody Allen who is very much into body language and body movement.

~Charlotte Rampling

Doing cinema is not about watching yourself

~Charlotte Rampling

By trying to control everything we become very neurotic, more and more desperate. It's a huge tragic thing.

~Charlotte Rampling

One of the reasons I don't see eye to eye with Women's Lib is that women have it all on a plate if only they knew it. They don't have to be pretty either.

~Charlotte Rampling

I've lived through deaths in my family and I've lived through separations in my family so those are the big ones. Those are the ones that press the biggest buttons in human beings' lives.

~Charlotte Rampling

A film based on a jolly good John Grisham book is fine, but I like to get a bit under the skin

~Charlotte Rampling

You can never really judge your work because once it's done, it's done.

~Charlotte Rampling

I must explore desert ground and see what can grow. But there are limits. I know in my heart what I would never do.

~Charlotte Rampling

I think that most actors don't have very good opinions of themselves

~Charlotte Rampling

I did that film just so I could kiss Robert Redford.

~Charlotte Rampling

A lot of young actors will do a scene and then run off and look at themselves. I don't believe in that at all

~Charlotte Rampling

We can never know... But maybe it's because no black actors merited being nominated. Why put people into categories?

~Charlotte Rampling

You cannot watch yourself dispassionately.
