Just because a woman has a pimp doesn't necessarily mean that she's being abused by the guy. You can't know for sure.

~Chester Brown

I think most people are motivated to want to do what is best for themselves. People want to avoid STDs. I believe in a system that leaves it up to the individual to protect their own health.

~Chester Brown

We're not very accepting of people who act strangely.

~Chester Brown

Almost every scene, I re-think as I'm about to start drawing it, and at least half of the time I'm changing dialogue or whatever, or adding scenes or different things.

~Chester Brown

I Never Liked You. I think that's my best book. I think it works the best as a story, and I like the drawing. It works on both levels, for me at least.

~Chester Brown

I'm planning on finishing the Gospels at some point.

~Chester Brown

I think the big problem is what I call "possessive monogamy." I think we should have a lot more freedom in our sexual lives. We should stop making monogamous commitments.

~Chester Brown

The best paid sex can still be really great and really intense, but, you know, without the emotional passion there, it's not going to be quite at the same level as the best unpaid sex.

~Chester Brown

The best blowjobs I've had have been from prostitutes.

~Chester Brown

Trying to get your sexual partner to make a monogamous commitment to you is not a loving thing to do; it's selfish.

~Chester Brown

I was seeing indoor workers as opposed to streetwalkers and from what I hear, drug use is much more prevalent among streetwalkers than it is with girls who are escorting.

~Chester Brown

I would prefer not to be living with anyone, really. Like, as much as I care for my special friend, I don't want to live with her.

~Chester Brown

I don't think of myself as an evil monster and I hope I'm not.

~Chester Brown

I don't date civilians. I don't even try. I'm totally out of the game of dating or trying to get a girlfriend or anything like that.

~Chester Brown

I'm not looking to get married or anything like that. I'm just a john now. I'm going to be paying for sex for the rest of my life.

~Chester Brown

If I do need to make money suddenly, I prefer to just draw something I want to draw and have someone else sell it for me on the Internet.

~Chester Brown

As far as sex slavery goes, in Canada, if the woman has a Canadian accent, I'm confident that she hasn't been trafficked and forced to work as a prostitute.

~Chester Brown

I don't worry about how accurately I convey my personality. I learned early on that it's almost impossible to accurately portray yourself.

~Chester Brown

I have stuff I'm interested in working on, and I'd rather work on what excites me than complete projects from the past that I've grown bored with.

~Chester Brown

It's because I do see sex as sacred and potentially spiritual that I believe in commercializing it and making this potentially holy experience more easily available to all.

~Chester Brown

I think politics is important. It's how we run our society. I think it should be natural to have an interest in the subject, and I almost don't understand why some people don't.

~Chester Brown

You can't be everything for another person.

~Chester Brown

The counter-argument would be, so what if my sexual relationships are superficial, one can still have satisfying and rewarding relationships with friends, or parents, or siblings, or whatever.
