Never be afraid to do what's right. If no one ever says anything, nothing ever changes.

~Chris Kluwe

If you're not willing to speak out for the rights of other people, then who do you expect to speak out for you when it's your turn?

~Chris Kluwe

In my mind, there's no logical conclusion that can be drawn, other than that I was fired for my activism.

~Chris Kluwe

I would like people to pay attention to the idea of rational empathy, and that as a society, we are walking down a path that's well-trodden throughout history.

~Chris Kluwe

People, please remember that I choose my words very carefully. Assumptions are your enemy.

~Chris Kluwe

I Was An NFL Player Until I was Fired By Two Cowards and a Bigot.

~Chris Kluwe

I won't feel that I failed. I'll be a little disappointed in the NFL.

~Chris Kluwe

As a business you should probably be examining, hey, is this the type of message we want to send?

~Chris Kluwe

In an ideal world, entertainment would be regarded as what it is - entertainment - and wouldn't be valued more heavily than education, than science, than environmental awareness.

~Chris Kluwe

Well, if you count my phone as an access point (which I do), I'm pretty much constantly online unless I'm at an event or practice or something.

~Chris Kluwe

I first started using the internet back when a 14.4 modem was considered fast. I think I was about 11 or 12, and it fascinated me that you could look at all these different things on your computer.
