The Internet is a fantastic, strange place where you can write an open letter and be reasonably assured that people are going to read it.

~Chris Weitz

To be emotionally resilient and to overcome your circumstances, not through fighting, but through being courageous and having endurance was something I thought was of primary importance.

~Chris Weitz

I love being by the ocean. It stills the voices in my head.

~Chris Weitz

Don't you get it? It's the end of the world! That's exactly when you fall in love. When else?

~Chris Weitz

I often make movies that involve depression or deep holes of sadness, although there are also these other great things in 'New Moon,' like this epic set-piece at the end of the film in Italy.

~Chris Weitz

People always want the stars of movies to fall in love with one another.

~Chris Weitz

Modern responses to Cinderella's predicament are interesting. If you're not careful, you'll think, "Well, she's just a big wimp. She should fight for her rights. She should call the government."

~Chris Weitz

I try to put out fires when bizarre rumors get started.

~Chris Weitz

I am a surfer, though quite a poor one.

~Chris Weitz

Having been dumped so many times in my life, I thought I could sympathize with Bellas character.

~Chris Weitz

The reason I make movies now has a lot to do with having seen Star Wars when I was seven years old. That's the formative movie-going experience of my life.

~Chris Weitz

I think it's so incredibly special to be able to try to recapitulate that feeling I had when I was sitting in that theater, as a 7-year-old. It's an extraordinary job. I'm incredibly lucky.

~Chris Weitz

People like to be able to identify a brand, and I don't really have one.
