

Christie Brinkley

Quotes

Thinking, Falling In Love, Inches, Jobs, People, Found, Oysters, Stress, Peter, Want, Sometimes, Sweet, Art, Your Smile, Secret, Miscarriage, World, Attitude, Fall, Fake People

I always say, the bigger the hair, the smaller the hips!

~Christie Brinkley

I have this helicopter crash, and I fall in love with this man who was in the crash with me. I must have been suffering from post-traumatic stress syndrome.

~Christie Brinkley

Basically he never went to work and didn't have a job. Of course I thought he did. I thought he was on the phone doing business deals instead of borrowing money from people.

~Christie Brinkley

Share your smile with the world. It's a symbol of friendship and peace.

~Christie Brinkley

I think many people can relate to that excruciating pain of love gone wrong. I'd rather have a broken arm than a broken heart.

~Christie Brinkley

I don't want to be younger, I just want to look it.

~Christie Brinkley

Your job as a parent is to listen. And to dole out as much love as you can. That includes tough love.

~Christie Brinkley

Some people think happiness is a luxury, but its a necessity. You need to make space for it in your life.

~Christie Brinkley

Chiropractic makes me feel a few inches taller each time I come out.

~Christie Brinkley

Life is too short to not have oysters and champagne sometimes

~Christie Brinkley

After the first miscarriage, I tried to take the attitude that it was my body's way of telling me that this pregnancy wasn't meant to be.

~Christie Brinkley

I don't count that relationship with Ricky. It's just like a blip at this point. I had to fall in love with the devil himself to get this sweet angel, Jack.

~Christie Brinkley

The best beauty secret is sunblock.

~Christie Brinkley

I just found out that I'm one inch taller than I thought.

~Christie Brinkley

America and Americans always rise to the occasion. If we say we are going to stamp out hunger, I believe we will.

~Christie Brinkley

The more you give, the more you get - it's a cliché, but it's really true.

~Christie Brinkley

When something bad happens to me, I think I'm able to deal with it in a pretty good way. That makes me lucky. Some people fall apart at the first little thing that happens.

~Christie Brinkley

I must've got whacked on the head. He presented a totally false person for me to fall in love with.

~Christie Brinkley

Just because people can express themselves through their art doesn't mean they are great communicators in person.

~Christie Brinkley

We decided to try in vitro, because both Peter and I felt we couldn't handle another failure... When I miscarried after that, we had to come to terms with the possibility that this wasn't meant to be.

~Christie Brinkley

I think variety is the spice of sticking with an exercise routine, whether it's getting a dance tape one day, or getting a tape with those stretchy things to work with resistance on a different day.

~Christie Brinkley

Life is short. Ricky and I realize how lucky we were. We want to be together all the time.

~Christie Brinkley

My biggest deterrent to getting the workout I need is just that my days are so full and so busy.

~Christie Brinkley

Four months is a lot of living with that little life in you - thinking about it, eating right for it, nurturing it and all of a sudden, it dies.

~Christie Brinkley

Related Links:

- Thinking Quotes
- Falling In Love Quotes
- Inches Quotes
- Jobs Quotes
- People Quotes
- Found Quotes
- Oysters Quotes
- Stress Quotes
- Peter Quotes
- Want Quotes
- Sometimes Quotes
- Sweet Quotes
- Art Quotes
- Your Smile Quotes
- Secret Quotes
- Miscarriage Quotes
- World Quotes
- Attitude Quotes
- Fall Quotes
- Fake People Quotes