In tragedy every moment is eternity; in comedy, eternity is a moment.

~Christopher Fry

What, after all, is a halo? It's only one more thing to keep clean.

~Christopher Fry

Poetry is a language in which man explores his own amazement.

~Christopher Fry

Imagination is the wide-open eye which leads us always to see truth more vividly.

~Christopher Fry

Between our birth and death we may touch understanding, As a moth brushes a window with its wing

~Christopher Fry

There may always be another reality to make fiction of the truth we think we've arrived at.

~Christopher Fry

The best Thing we can do is to make wherever we're lost in Look as much like home as we can.

~Christopher Fry

I know your cause is lost, but in the heart / Of all right causes is a cause that cannot lose.

~Christopher Fry

Comedy is an escape, not from truth but from despair; a narrow escape into faith.

~Christopher Fry

We must each find our separate meaning in the persuasion of our days

until we meet in the meaning of the world.

~Christopher Fry

One day I shall burst my bud of calm and blossom into hysteria.

~Christopher Fry

Poetry is the language in which man explores his own amazement... says heaven and earth in one word... speaks of himself and his predicament as though for the first time.

~Christopher Fry

Life is a hypocrite if I can't live the way it moves me.

~Christopher Fry

The moon is nothing But a circumambulating aphrodisiac Divinely subsidized to provoke the world Into a rising birth-rate

~Christopher Fry

Who apart from ourselves, can see any difference between our victories and our defeats?

~Christopher Fry

Coffee in England is just toasted milk.

~Christopher Fry

I travel light; as light, that is, as a man can travel who will still carry his body around because of its sentimental value.

~Christopher Fry

If we could wake each morning with no memory of living before we went to sleep, we might arrive at a faultless day.

~Christopher Fry

How can a man learn navigation Where there's no rudder?

~Christopher Fry

Poetry has the virtue of being able to say twice as much as prose in half the time, and the drawback, if you do not give it your full attention, of seeming to say half as much in twice the time.

~Christopher Fry

The dark is light enough.

~Christopher Fry

Indulgences, not fulfillment, is what the world Permits us.

~Christopher Fry

The lines marking a penalty area are a disgrace to the playing fields of a public school.

~Christopher Fry

Day's work is still to do, Whatever the day's doom.

~Christopher Fry

Equality is a mortuary word.

~Christopher Fry

What is madness To those who only observe, is often wisdom To those to whom it happens.

~Christopher Fry

It is the individual man in his individual freedom who can mature with his warm spirit the unripe world.

~Christopher Fry

How nature loves the incomplete. She knows If she drew a conclusion it would finish her.

~Christopher Fry

My trouble is I'm the sort of writer who only finds out what he's getting at by the time he's got to the end of it.

~Christopher Fry

How can we be scrupulous In a life which, from birth onwards, is so determined To wring us dry of any serenity at all?

~Christopher Fry

The skirts of the gods Drag in our mud. We feel the touch And take it to be a kiss.

~Christopher Fry

Where in this small-talking world can I find A longitude with no platitude?

~Christopher Fry

It's always our touches of vanity that manage to betray us.

~Christopher Fry

In my plays I want to look at life at the commonplace of existence as if we had just turned a corner and run into it for the first time.

~Christopher Fry

Religion Has made an honest woman of the supernatural, And we won't have it kicking over the traces again.

~Christopher Fry

In our plain defects we already know the brotherhood of man.
