I want to paint Montreal as a rather fantastic city, which it was, because nobody knows today what it was like. And I'm one of the last survivors, or rapidly becoming one.

~Christopher Plummer

The devil is more interesting than God.

~Christopher Plummer

You're only two years older than me, darling. Where have you been all my life?

~Christopher Plummer

Try and stay sober. Until the curtain call. And for God's sake, have fun. Don't suffer for your art. Just have fun.

~Christopher Plummer

Sometimes you have to look into a mirror and look at the worst you could have been if you're ever going to know the best you were meant to be.

~Christopher Plummer

Unless you can surround yourself with as many beautiful things as you can afford, I don't think life has very much meaning.

~Christopher Plummer

Working with Julie Andrews is like getting hit over the head with a valentine.

~Christopher Plummer

I've been very fortunate it's just been an amazing piece of luck. I haven't had to suffer for my art but I've suffered enough inside to hopefully be called an artist.

~Christopher Plummer

The first time my father saw me in the flesh was on the stage, which is a bit weird. We went out to dinner, and he was charming and sweet, but I did all the talking.

~Christopher Plummer

History remembers most what you did last.

~Christopher Plummer

Most of my life I have played a lot of famous people but most of them were dead so you have a poetic license.

~Christopher Plummer

In Stratford you either turn into an alcoholic or you better write.

~Christopher Plummer

I'm too old-fashioned to use a computer. I'm too old-fashioned to use a quill.

~Christopher Plummer

I couldn't believe when I first got a fan letter from Al Pacino, it was unreal.

~Christopher Plummer

I just can't tell you what fun I've had being a member of the world's second oldest profession.

~Christopher Plummer

I don't want death to suddenly interrupt what I'm doing. I don't like the idea of death at all.

~Christopher Plummer

I rather like the idea of defying death.

~Christopher Plummer

I just do what I want to do, and if it's a rather interesting script - which I found.

~Christopher Plummer

I would rather not know about how one gets parts in movies these days.

~Christopher Plummer

We all live with more mortality because we're all on drugs.

~Christopher Plummer
