

Cinda Williams Chima

Quotes

Thinking, Trying, Way, Want, Said, Arms, Dream, Hands, People, Looks, Warrior, Sleep, Needs, Wise, Mother, Rocks, Blow, Hair, Men, Captains

You didn't have to go to the fireworks with him. Or - or let him fondle you." "Fondle?" Raisa raised her eyebrows, "When did I mention fondling?"

~Cinda Williams Chima

Just remember who you are... The world will try to change you into someone else. Don't let them. That's the best advice anyone can give you.

~Cinda Williams Chima

It was a peculiar marriage of interests- Lord Averill and Captain Byrne and Lord Bayar and Han Alister agreeing on anything was as rare as gold in Ragmarket.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Nobody's going to hand you anything. You don't get what you don't go after.

~Cinda Williams Chima

"Will you give the girl to me?" she said. "Will you let me try?" He nodded, dizzy with relief. "Please, Willo. Please. Save her. It doesn't matter...what happens to me.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Don't expect much and you won't be disappointed.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Fitch is on his way. He's coming after he blows up some wizards.

~Cinda Williams Chima

That's what happens when you love someone... you notice and notice and notice.

~Cinda Williams Chima

What kind of love would drive a man for miles through solid rock?

~Cinda Williams Chima

Hope is a dangerous thing, Raisa thought. Once kindled, it's hard to put out. It makes wise people into fools.

~Cinda Williams Chima

They were like two pieces of a failed star, drawn together by a shared history and a memory of illicit kisses.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Crow walked toward her, arms outstretched like a man in a dream, which he was, in a way. Sometimes a dream is enough.

~Cinda Williams Chima

He swept Raisa up into his arms and kissed her like it was his first, last, and only

~Cinda Williams Chima

She padded toward Han, barefoot, like a faerie startled out of a forest bower, bewitching mix of clan and flatland beauty.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I've found it wise to enjoy any time of truce, while recognizing it for what it is. A truce.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Do not forget duty. But choose love when you can.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I like rough edges. That's what makes a person real.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I'd rather have a go at life, so there's something to talk about once we're gone.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I have to think it's possible to suffer a great wrong and walk away from it. To build a life of small, exquisitely important moments.

~Cinda Williams Chima

You do not respond to an attempt on your life with a slap on the hand. Or a joke.

~Cinda Williams Chima

A fiction writer is never entirely alone. Her characters are constantly whispering in her ear.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Falling in love was like falling off a cliff. It felt pretty much like flying until you hit the ground.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Just because you're the enemy of my enemy don't mean you're my friend, Han thought.

~Cinda Williams Chima

The only way to get what you want is to make them more afraid of you than they are of each other.

~Cinda Williams Chima

You look like a boy who has eaten the fruit of the tree of knowledge and doesn't like the taste.

~Cinda Williams Chima

But maybe it's better to go after something, and not get it, than to not even try.

~Cinda Williams Chima

A vocation is not something you slap on, like a coat of paint, and change whenever you want. A vocation is built into you. You have no choice. If you try to do something else, you fail.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Admit nothing - that was his first rule. Appeal to logic - second rule. Delay the inevitable - third rule.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Weird is good, strange is bad.

~Cinda Williams Chima

We may all end up dead, but we're sticking it to them in the meantime.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Why aren't you dead?" Will demanded.

~Cinda Williams Chima

And they always slept better with blades beneath their beds.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Commander! Sir! Wake up!" Jack surfaced from sleep, wondering who the commander was and wishing he'd respond so he could go back to sleep - until he remembered that he was the commander.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Jason felt humiliated and frustrated. Rejected by a rock.

~Cinda Williams Chima

You couldn't keep your mouth shut? I'm calling you Glitterhair from now on. Or Talksalot.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Just a rat, she repeated to herself. After all, there were rats in the palace. Human and otherwise. Could be worse.

~Cinda Williams Chima

The answer is no, I would rather marry the Demon King himself than marry you. I suggest you look elsewhere for a bride. And heaven help the one you choose.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I live in the present because the future is always chancy. When it comes to being with you, I'm willing to take the risk.

~Cinda Williams Chima

So you questioned him?" Raisa prompted. "What did he say for himself?" "Well, the first thing Gillen does is steal his purse and beat him with a club." Amon said.

~Cinda Williams Chima

He expects nothing, she thought, because he's never had anything. And nothing was expected of him. He was free in a way she never would be.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Her clothes still smoked from the wizard's assault. But to him, she always smelled of flowers.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Sometimes you have to go somewhere else to appreciate what we have here.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I have lost everything, Han thought. Then he corrected himself. Every time I think I've lost everything, I find there's still something else to lose.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Plus he was naturally lucky at cards. As Mam had always said, lucky at cards, or lucky at life. One or the other. Not both.

~Cinda Williams Chima

For Hanalea the Warrior!

~Cinda Williams Chima

But it's not enough to know right from wrong. You need the strength to do what's right, even when what you want most in the world is the wrong thing.

~Cinda Williams Chima

It was one of the warm nights at the end of summer that makes promises that won't be kept.

~Cinda Williams Chima

But I don't want your throne." "Then what do you want?" "You.

~Cinda Williams Chima

History,' Mari muttered, as if she'd overheard his thoughts. 'Why do we need to know what happened before we were born?' 'So hopefully we get smarter and don't make the same mistakes again.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I continue to believe in miracles. But i know that miracles come to those who work very hard

~Cinda Williams Chima

My tagline is "Less sex, more romance, lower body count.'

~Cinda Williams Chima

If you want to be a writer, you must be in love with the process of writing, whether you achieve financial success or not.

~Cinda Williams Chima

The human mind had a remarkable ability both to discount what it sees and make reality conform to expectation.

~Cinda Williams Chima

(A)ny time you buy weapons, or build an army, you begin to look for an excuse to use them. Plus, you pose more of a threat to others.

~Cinda Williams Chima

The time will come when you will be forced to make a choice,â€• Hanalea said. â€œWhen that time comes, choose love.

~Cinda Williams Chima

I need to go to parties, Raisa mused, so I don't think so much.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Did the destruction of one dream leave a vacuum that required filling with another? Is a broken heart more vulnerable?

~Cinda Williams Chima

He keeps this up, he's bound to be caught, she thought. And this time they'll dangle him for certain.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Both Averill and Bayar were like actors speaking lines for their audience and not to each other.

~Cinda Williams Chima

She had never felt more alive than when she lay dying in Han Alister's arms.

~Cinda Williams Chima

How'd it go with Leesha?" "It was great! We were bad cop and bad cop!

~Cinda Williams Chima

Which is a sad thing when you're only seventeen.

~Cinda Williams Chima

You touch me again, you arrogant Ardenine swine, and I swear on the blood of Hanalea the warrior, I will geld you. Do you understand?

~Cinda Williams Chima

He's not lazy. He's just highly inefficient.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Well now, Jack," Hastings said from the sidelines. "I'm afraid you've been beheaded. Not a good start." He sounded amused.

~Cinda Williams Chima

Related Links:

- Thinking Quotes
- Trying Quotes
- Way Quotes
- Want Quotes
- Said Quotes
- Arms Quotes
- Dream Quotes
- Hands Quotes
- People Quotes
- Looks Quotes
- Warrior Quotes
- Sleep Quotes
- Needs Quotes
- Wise Quotes
- Mother Quotes
- Rocks Quotes
- Blow Quotes
- Hair Quotes
- Men Quotes
- Captains Quotes