It is only of life on Earth, however, that one can speak with any certainty. It seems to me that all life on Earth, the sum total of life upon the Earth, has purpose.

~Clifford D. Simak

Before Man goes to the stars he should learn how to live on Earth .

~Clifford D. Simak

Much of what we see in the universe ... starts out as imaginary. Often you must imagine something before you can come to terms with it.

~Clifford D. Simak

These are the stories the Dogs tell, when the fires burn high and the wind is from the north.

~Clifford D. Simak

Time is still the great mystery to us. It is no more than a concept; we don't know if it even exists.

~Clifford D. Simak

Without consciousness and intelligence, the universe would lack meaning.

~Clifford D. Simak

It would seem to me that by the time a race has achieved deep space capability it would have matured to a point where it would have no thought of dominating another intelligent species.

~Clifford D. Simak

If mankind were to continue in other than the present barbarism, a new path must be found, a new civilization based on some other method than technology

~Clifford D. Simak

Inside the time bubble we do not age. We age only when we are outside of it.

~Clifford D. Simak

When I talk of the purpose of life, I am thinking not only of human life, but of all life on Earth and of the life which must exist upon other planets throughout the universe.

~Clifford D. Simak

Here lies one from a distant star, but the soil is not alien to him, for in death he belongs to the universe.

~Clifford D. Simak

My reluctance to use alien invasion is due to the feeling that we are not likely to be invaded and taken over.

~Clifford D. Simak

If the means were available, we could trace our ancestry - yours and mine - back to the first blob of life-like material that came into being on the planet.

~Clifford D. Simak

Must faith be exactly that, the willingness and ability to believe in the face of a lack of evidence? If one could find the evidence, would then the faith be dead?

~Clifford D. Simak

I'm just a propagandist and a propagandist doesn't have to know what he is talking about, just so he talks about it most convincingly.

~Clifford D. Simak

This is the very center of everything there is. A huge black hole eating up the galaxy. The end of everything.

~Clifford D. Simak

The chain of life runs smoothly from one generation to the next and none of the links stand out except here and there a link one sees by accident.
