You don't take away my choices. You are my choice.

~Colleen Houck

Regrets are only felt by those who do not understand life's purpose.

~Colleen Houck

Falling for him would be like cliff diving. It would be either the most exhilarating thing that ever happened to me or the stupidest mistake I'd ever make.

~Colleen Houck

What is real and what is not is for your heart to decide and for your heart to know.

~Colleen Houck

I could feel the warmth of his presence as if a soft blanket had been wrapped around my soul, around my heart. It held me and protected me. It sheltered me and I knew I wasn't alone anymore.

~Colleen Houck

Oregon welcomed me like a beloved child, enfolded me in her cool arms, shushed my turbulent thoughts, and promised peace through her whispering pines.

~Colleen Houck

If anyone can overcome a fear for the ocean, you can, little lady. Courage is being scared to death and saddlin' up anyway.

~Colleen Houck

Bad things sometimes happen to good people; the key to happiness is try to make the best of, and be thankful for the hand we're dealt

~Colleen Houck

One's enemy is often the best teacher of tolerance.

~Colleen Houck

He kissed me fiercely, with an utter abandon that I could no more put a halt to than I could stop an avalanche.

~Colleen Houck

Saying his name stabbed my heart, like someone had ripped through my carefully stitched up world and exposed the infected, pulsing red tissue that I thought was healing.

~Colleen Houck

Your heart knows. Your soul remembers.

~Colleen Houck

Why does everything so bad for you always taste so dreamy?

~Colleen Houck

I don't mind being alone either. The only problem is that if you're always alone, you get lonely.

~Colleen Houck

I decided to find you, throw myself at your feet, and beg you to have mercy on me. Honestly, I'll accept whatever you choose, Kelsey. Just don't ask me to live apart from you again. Because...I can't.

~Colleen Houck

Tarzan-like men are my weakness, apparently.

~Colleen Houck

A tiger only needs three things to be comfortable. Lots of food, sleep, and...actually, no it's just those two things.

~Colleen Houck

Were you always such a stubborn, blind, obtuse girl?" "Are you calling me stupid?" "Yes, but in a more poetic way!" "Well, here's a poem for you. Get lost!

~Colleen Houck

We throw away what we could have been and waste our opportunities. We each have a purpose, a destiny, and to realize it, we must reach beyond what we think we are capable of.

~Colleen Houck

A wise man sees the path all must walk and embraces the free will of humankind, even if to watch it unfold causes him pain.

~Colleen Houck

A young man who doesn't have the foresight to seek out the girl he wants to be with and actively pursue her, doesn't deserve her.

~Colleen Houck

The fact is...I'm in love with you, and I have been for some time.

~Colleen Houck

(...)normalcy is an illusion. Each person is utterly unique. A standard of normalcy is something that most people of the world simply will never access.

~Colleen Houck

How do I get past my fears? Make a life for myself? Risk loving someone? When death is all that waits for you, what's the point in trying to have a life?

~Colleen Houck

Okay. So, apparently I find burly Indian men attractive. What's wrong with that?
