The sooner you make a mistake and learn to live with it, the better. You're not responsible for everything. You can't control the way things end up.

~Courtney Summers

We eat breakfast, lunch, and dinner to the soundtrack of our own impending death.

~Courtney Summers

You only get to walk variations of the same lines everyone has already drawn for you.

~Courtney Summers

The fall takes no time and forever.

~Courtney Summers

Death has been here and where death has been no light shall ever be .

~Courtney Summers

I'm afraid everything I was is gone and all that's left is everything I'm not.

~Courtney Summers

Is this what it's like to get close to other people--you do something insane together and then you have to share everything even if you don't really want to?

~Courtney Summers

Cardboard cutouts of cheerleaders operated by arthritic monkeys would move more fluidly.

~Courtney Summers

Funny how the last thing we want the world to see is almost the first thing to show.

~Courtney Summers

If I can do things right, I don't see why everyone else can't.

~Courtney Summers

Everyone should know--there's no such thing as a decent human being. It's just an illusion. And when it's gone, it's really gone.

~Courtney Summers

Time passes too quickly when you're getting ready to do something you don't want to do.

~Courtney Summers

I'm always leaving, but I never have anywhere to go.

~Courtney Summers

Waiting around to be saved is like waiting to die and I have done more of both than anyone else in the room.

~Courtney Summers

Write it down today, put it away, make sense of it tomorrow.

~Courtney Summers

My dad used to say makeup was a shallow girl's sport, but it's not. It's armor.
