One doesn't become a soldier in a week - it takes training, study and discipline. There is no question that the finest Army in the world is found in the United States.

~Daniel Inouye

That's one of the horrors of war, that you can train a person, train them to hate, train them to kill. It's a terrible thought.

~Daniel Inouye

I hope that the mistakes made and suffering imposed upon Japanese Americans nearly 60 years ago will not be repeated against Arab Americans whose loyalties are now being called into question.

~Daniel Inouye

A great nation betrayed the principles which have made it great, and thereby became hostage to hostage-takers.

~Daniel Inouye

There is no such man as a one-person hero.

~Daniel Inouye

No times were more dangerous than when our country was born, when revolution was our midwife.

~Daniel Inouye

Americanism is not a matter of skin or color.

~Daniel Inouye

The President's speech suggested to me that were we to follow his leadership, we will be in Iraq not for months, but for years. I also hope I am wrong on this.

~Daniel Inouye

I'm supposed to be a normal, sane type person, but after you go through war and such, you become superstitious. I am convinced that somebody is looking after me.
