I directed a half hour comedy pilot, 'Upgrade,' and had one of the best times ever! I had such a great time directing; I would love to get to direct another project.

~Daniella Alonso

There are those special projects that don't ever feel like work but just a blessing to be a part of, and 'Revolution' is one of those projects.

~Daniella Alonso

I really am happy that I met my agency and my management company, because they see me as a person and not just a Latin woman.

I really want to work in a movie with Quentin Tarantino. I think he makes fantastic movies. I love people that create a different reality for the actors to live in.

~Daniella Alonso

I can be a nice person, but if someone is messing with someone I care about, the tougher side comes out a little more.

~Daniella Alonso

I guess just accepting failure is the thing. I don't really look at it as a failure. I look at them as learning lessons and things you grow from but not really a failure, because that's life.
