Global consciousness is that thing responsible for deciding that pots containing decaffeinated coffee should be orange.

~Danny Hillis

I am convinced that we humans are just at the beginning of our journey, on our way to becoming something more wonderful than we can imagine.

~Danny Hillis

If transportation technology was moving along as fast as microprocessor technology, then the day after tomorrow I would be able to get in a taxi cab and be in Tokyo in 30 seconds.

~Danny Hillis

Technology is everything that doesn't work yet.

~Danny Hillis

Design: holding conflicting ideas in your head without difficulty

~Danny Hillis

The computers are in control. We just live in their world.

~Danny Hillis

An attitude of only taking what you need was built into the protocols of the Internet itself.

~Danny Hillis

I'm as fond of my body as anyone, but if I can be 200 with a body of silicon, I'll take it.

~Danny Hillis

Your genome knows much more about your medical history than you do.

~Danny Hillis

We're at a point in time which is analogous to when single-celled organisms were turning into multi-celled organisms. So we're the amoebas.
