Life is wonderful, so revel in its beauty. Be all you can be, and let go of the past. It is nothing but shadows.

~David Clement-Davies

The deer hovered by the trees beyond as the sounds of the ravaging wolves came to them across the grass, their own senses almost frozen in impotent horror.

~David Clement-Davies

Fear is an instinct, like hunger or anger. We need it to help us survive, and it is nothing to be ashamed of. It lets us know whether we should fight or flee.

~David Clement-Davies

Everything Dies. That is the law of life-the bitter unchangeable law

~David Clement-Davies

Stones are raw, they blunt my paw, but words will never hurt me.

~David Clement-Davies

"I'm frightened of nothing anymore," answered Fell simply, "except lies. For they're the real killers.

~David Clement-Davies

But life is not a legend or a story. Reality is far more precious than a story.

~David Clement-Davies

Man, who thinks he knows everything. But what does man know...Man cares only for himself, in his fear and hate.

~David Clement-Davies

Real courage is not to give up hope, even in the most terrible darkness, and to carry on. That if courage and love is deep as despair, deeper,

then light may come again

~David Clement-Davies

Now go away, or I'll get my friends the Bats to bite you.

~David Clement-Davies

Our destinies are our own, if we have the courage to take control of them.

~David Clement-Davies

In that moment she learnt one of the greatest secrets of life: It is often easier to fight for others than it is for yourself.

~David Clement-Davies

...man will try to guard his faith more preciously even than his gold.

~David Clement-Davies

And, Kar, love is not a commandment, it is a need, as real as eating.

~David Clement-Davies

You are not evil, Fell. You have just been robbed of love. Of light.

~David Clement-Davies

On his brow a leaf of oaken, Cangeling child shall be his fate.
Understanding words strange spoken, Chased by anger, fear, and hate.

~David Clement-Davies

To you, Fell. Can't you feel it? Inside you, as it lies inside all the Lera.
Know thyself, wolf.

~David Clement-Davies

I must try to remember that a boy's heart is not a man's, and perhaps a teacher must learn from his pupil, too, eh?

~David Clement-Davies

It's those that fight hardest for freedom who are never free.

~David Clement-Davies

...at times, the greatest courage of all is to live.

~David Clement-Davies

Wolves hate farewells.

~David Clement-Davies

But of all the animals, man holds the fate of the world in his hands.

~David Clement-Davies

I wish the battles of men could be solved in their heads.

~David Clement-Davies

Yes,' growled Fell, 'for animals do not know what they do, but man has knowledge of his cruelty.

~David Clement-Davies

Life itself is dispare, so we must make darkness our ally

~David Clement-Davies
