A leader's role is to raise people's aspirations for what they can become and to release their energies so they will try to get there.

~David Gergen

Leadership is a journey. Each one of us has to take our own path, and get there our own way.

~David Gergen

Morality in government begins with officials using words as honestly as possible to describe the truth.

~David Gergen

The proudest moment for [a teacher of leaders] is seeing not what students learn but what they do.

~David Gergen

At the heart of leadership is the leader's relationship with followers. People will entrust their hopes and dreams to another person only if they think the other is a reliable vessel.

~David Gergen

We are making politics a spectator sport in which our only duty is to vote somebody into office and then retire to the grandstands.

~David Gergen

Leadership is about calling people to do things beyond themselves.

~David Gergen

It's easy to confuse motion with progress.

~David Gergen

We know from past history that when young people vote for one party a couple of times, they tend to vote for that party during their adult lifetimes in disproportionate numbers.

~David Gergen

One cannot underestimate how widely admired Tom Daschle is in Washington for his integrity.

~David Gergen

If you've got some news that you don't want to get noticed, put it out Friday afternoon 4:00 pm.

~David Gergen

Ronald Reagan is clearly to television what Franklin Roosevelt was to radio.
