I write not to record what I think but to discover what I think

~David Malouf

All the things we achieve are things we have first of all imagined.

~David Malouf

I might grow old in Brisbane, but I would never grow up.

~David Malouf

Silence is a form of communication. Speech divides us.

~David Malouf

We're such contrary creatures

~David Malouf

We are continuous with all the particles of our physical being, as in our breathing we are continuous with the sky. Between our bodies and the world there is unity and commerce.

~David Malouf

What else is death but the refusal any longer to grow and suffer change?

~David Malouf

Words his soul danced to.

~David Malouf

With all those prizes the most interesting thing is getting on to the shortlist, because that tells you who people see as your peers.
