Savannah is amazing with the town squares and the hanging moss and the French Colonial houses. It's brutally romantic.

~David Morrissey

'Evil' is quite a blanket term. People aren't the demonic characters we would like them to be sometimes.

~David Morrissey

I think I'm quite a lazy person, actually. If I'm not careful, I could just stay in bed all day.

~David Morrissey

I'd really like to get on a Greyhound bus and go backpacking across America.

~David Morrissey

We have one life and we should cherish it and make it the best we can.

~David Morrissey

Nothing is my guiltiest pleasure. I love it. I love doing it. I love planning to do it, I love loafing and pottering and chilling and daydreaming.

~David Morrissey

I think when you don't know where you stand with someone, they can surprise you in their goodness and their badness, and that makes them human.

~David Morrissey

In all honesty, we all want our fantasy selves to be the best people. We all think in a time of crisis, we will react heroically and with humanity.

~David Morrissey

I always try to put myself in the way of surprise as much as possible. My ambition is to keep challenging myself. I like that journey of discovery.

~David Morrissey

When you are an actor, rejection and disappointment are an occupational hazard.

~David Morrissey

Liverpool has always made me brave, choice-wise. It was never a city that criticised anyone for taking a chance.

~David Morrissey

I'm not a perfectionist at all. I find perfectionists boring because the real creative heart is in the mess somewhere.

~David Morrissey

I love telling stories. I like the challenges presented to me on a daily basis. There's nothing resting about acting.

~David Morrissey

I like to act because I can forget about everything else.

~David Morrissey

All actors think every job will be their last.

~David Morrissey

You want people to identify with the person on the screen or in the theater, but you don't want them to identify with you as a person.

~David Morrissey

I couldn't think of anything worse than going to a fancy dress party. So, if somebody invited me to one, I'd go as the Invisible Man and not turn up.

~David Morrissey

I'm a massive fan of Brit Art in general and Damien Hirst in particular. I think he's an absolute genius and should be celebrated in every way.

~David Morrissey

Liverpool will always be my home.

~David Morrissey

It's always good to find out what you don't want to do.

~David Morrissey

My house is very clean apart from a very small part of it that looks as if we've been burgled, which is my office.

~David Morrissey

I've moved into directing as well as acting, and it has taught me never to take casting personally.

~David Morrissey

I always have to go out to work even if it's just a desk somewhere or an office or the British Library.

~David Morrissey

I'm no good at down-time. I panic slightly and then plan a project or set up a meeting about starting a project.

~David Morrissey

All my good friends are actors, really. It's different when you have a family, but they're still the people I meet most often. My best friend is Ian Hart, but then I've known him since I was five.

~David Morrissey

I've got a great family and a beautiful house. I feel very lucky as far as my lifestyle is concerned. I'm not really interested in fame and all its trappings.

~David Morrissey

I love getting stuff, and if I give a present to someone and don't get one back, you can bet your life they won't be getting one next year.
