Something coming back from the dead was almost always bad news. Movies taught me that. For every one Jesus you get a million zombies.

~David Wong

But remember, there are two ways to dehumanize someone: by dismissing them, and by idolizing them.

~David Wong

That ability to see the right choice, but not until several hours have passed since making the wrong one? That's what makes a person a dumbass, folks.

~David Wong

Kittens will make your sad go away

~David Wong

John's old Caddie had a huge engine that would qualify as a human rights violation if built today. It roared down the road, chugging gas and farting a blue cloud of dinosaur souls.

~David Wong

Start working on whatever you hesitate Because there is an ending to every beginning. When you make it to the end, You will realize the hesitation was a waste of time.

~David Wong

Son, the greatest trick the Devil pulled was convincing the world there was only one of him.

~David Wong

Cynicism does not cause inaction.

~David Wong

Which would prove I'm a monster, Arnie? Sacrificing the people I love for the fight? Or walking away from the fight to save the people i love?

~David Wong

You know if you walked around the world, your hat would travel thirty-one feet farther than your shoes?

~David Wong

You're the kind of man a man wants when a man wants a man.

~David Wong

There is no word in the English language for the feeling someone gets when they suddenly realize they're standing next to an unholy monster impersonating a human. Monstralization, maybe?

~David Wong

And, well, that's my story," I said. "I'm sorry that it's so, you know. Retarded.

~David Wong

To this day I don't know if he was struggling with the moral implications of gunning down half a dozen civilians, or if he was mentally counting to see if he had that many shells left in the gun.

~David Wong

War is about remaking the world to suit the whims of some powerful group over the whims of some other powerful group. The dead are just the sparks that fly from the metal as they grind it down.

~David Wong

... life is a flickering candle we all carry around. A gust of wind, a meaningless accident, a microsecond of carelessness, and it's out. Forever.

~David Wong

Falling in love with a house or a car or a pair of shoes, it was a dead end. You save your love for the things that can love you back.

~David Wong

They came looking for dark and terrible revelations and instead found out something even more dark and terrible: that their lives were trite and boring.

~David Wong

My melon soul Crushed by your Gallagher of apathy

~David Wong

You see, time is an ocean, not a garden hose. Space is a puff of smoke, a wisp of cloud.

~David Wong

All of society is built to prop up that lie, the whole world a big, noisy puppet show meant to distract us from the fact that at the end, you'll die, and you'll probably be alone.

~David Wong

She sat one of the fluffy cats in my lap and stuffed the other down my shirt. She turned and left. 'There,' said the large man. 'The kittens will make your sad go away.'

~David Wong

You see, Frank found out the hard way that the dark things lurking in the night don't haunt old houses or abandoned ships. They haunt minds.

~David Wong

Tried to escape, to block out the fact that I was being eaten alive by arachnids. For some reason the only thing I could replace it with was the image of being eaten by tiny clowns.

~David Wong

The phrase 'sodomized by a bratwurst poltergeist' suddenly flew through my mind.

~David Wong

I once saw Arnold Schwarzenegger kill a man in a movie by grabbing his head and twisting it until the neck broke. Was that difficult? Could a man do it without a lot of practice?

~David Wong

Antidepressants. The thought of this girl actually being depressed made me want to grab the whole planet and throw it into the sun. Well, more than usual anyway.

~David Wong

And watch out for Molly. See if she does anything unusual. There's something I don't trust about the way she exploded and then came back from the dead like that.

~David Wong

No, I don't, like, play an instrument or anything. I'm just...well, you saw me at the beginning there. I was the guy that fell down and died.

~David Wong

Welcome to freakdom, Dave. It'll be time to start a Web site soon, where you'll type out everything in one huge paragraph.

~David Wong

Here's exclusive Channel 5 video of a local man having his brain eaten by a winged gremlin. Local gremlin experts warn thatâ€”

~David Wong

The situation has a real Lovecraft feel to it. Though, you know, if you come over it'll be more of an Anne Rice situation. If you know what I mean." "Who's-" "Because you're gay.

~David Wong

If I knew me as somebody else, I would hate me just as much. Why have a double standard?

~David Wong

Children die every day because millions of us tell ourselves that caring is just as good as doing.

~David Wong

When a man plans, a woman laughs.

~David Wong

Are the most dangerous creatures the ones that use doors or the ones that don't?

~David Wong

In a morally healthy family the good of each member of a family includes and overlaps with the good of other members. When one family member flourishes, so typically do the others.
