"What is a human being, then?" "A seed." "A... seed?" "An acorn that is unafraid to destroy itself in growing into a tree."

~David Zindell

For war is never some cosmic accident descending upon a people with all the chance and inevitability of asteroids falling like fire out of the heavens, but only the will and work of man.

~David Zindell

In an infinite universe, every point in space-time is the center.

~David Zindell

Self-creation is the highest art.

~David Zindell

A man lusts to become a god... and there is murder. Murder upon murder upon murder. Why is the world of men nothing but murder?

~David Zindell

Beliefs are the eyelids of the mind.

~David Zindell

Life moved ever outward into infinite possibilities and yet all things were perfect and finished in every single moment, their end attained.

~David Zindell

Before, you are wise; after, you are wise. In between you are otherwise.

~David Zindell

We are the eyes through which the Univers observes itself and knows itself divine.

~David Zindell

But it is the nature of life that no emotion is meant to last forever.

~David Zindell

The belly is the reason that man does not easily mistake himself for a god.

~David Zindell

Who would bring light must endure burning.

~David Zindell

The true human being is the meaning of the universe. He is a dancing star. He is the exploding singularity pregnant with infinite possibilities.

~David Zindell

All men are warriors. And life for everything in our universe is nothing but war.

~David Zindell

We walk the brink of racial suicide because we were smart enough to make atomic bombs and stupid enough to use them.
