If you were a man, your ladyship, I would cordially horsewhip you for that remark.

~Deanna Raybourn

Fate is by far the greatest mystery of all.

~Deanna Raybourn

If one has a purpose, life is bearable enough, do you not think so?

~Deanna Raybourn

One is not born English without knowing how to converse easily about the weather.

~Deanna Raybourn

Now I was more certain than ever of my decision. I could not love a man who did not love Jane Austen.

~Deanna Raybourn

I see only a little, lady, but I know that your fortune is as twined with his as the ivy to the oak.

~Deanna Raybourn

I adored history, not the dry dates and boring battles, but the stories and the people who populated them.

~Deanna Raybourn

Life is too uncertain... You must seize happiness where you find it.

~Deanna Raybourn

Without an expectation of success, one is rarely successful.

~Deanna Raybourn

Those are facts. Are they the truth? No, for they do not tell you of the heart, and that is where truth lives.

~Deanna Raybourn

I hesitated for all the right reasons. And I accepted for all the wrong ones.

~Deanna Raybourn

To say that I met Nicholas Brisbane over my husband's dead body is not entirely accurate. Edward, it should be noted, was still twitching upon the floor.

~Deanna Raybourn

But this is a thing that I know--to live with fear is not to live at all. A man will die every moment he is afraid.

~Deanna Raybourn

She didn't look at me and I didn't look at her. Some questions are so direct the only way to ask them is sideways.

~Deanna Raybourn

You are curious and quick, you have a deft mind, and for some unaccountable reason, people tell you things -- useful things.

~Deanna Raybourn

....Only you mattered in that moment. Only you. And I would have done anything to save you. I would have paid any price committed any sin sold my very soul to do it.

~Deanna Raybourn

They have different accents in America " Brisbane smiled. "Just as we do here." I waved a hand. "They all sound alike to me.

~Deanna Raybourn

Oh, yes. I mean to marry him. But not because I want him to give me a life. I want to marry him to share the life I already have. The difference,

I think you will find, is a significant one.
