Foursquare makes maps special. We take maps that are blank and put dots on them to help you figure out what to do.

~Dennis Crowley

If there's something you want to build, but the tech isn't there yet, just find the closest possible way to make it happen.

~Dennis Crowley

Do what you love and the rest will come.

~Dennis Crowley

Don't let people tell you your ideas won't work.

~Dennis Crowley

Stop sketching and start building.

~Dennis Crowley

Don't let people tell you your ideas won't work. If you're passionate about an idea that's stuck in your head, find a way to build it so you can prove to yourself that it doesn't work.

~Dennis Crowley

Forget about where you want to be and go out and build stuff. Dodgeball came from being bored at work... things happen because you make them happen. Stop sketching, and start building.

~Dennis Crowley

People can copy what you've done, but they can't copy what you still want to do.

~Dennis Crowley

Build something that fixes something people are having a problem with, and you're lined up for great things.

~Dennis Crowley

What we're starting to see is that the best apps tend to be the simplest, the easiest to use and the fastest to use.

~Dennis Crowley

Building a product is easy. But building the company that builds the product is hard.

~Dennis Crowley

Stop sketching. Start building.

~Dennis Crowley

I'm obsessed with the idea of social TV.

~Dennis Crowley

Don't let other people distract what you're doing. There's always haters.

~Dennis Crowley

I'm still a really shitty programmer, but I know enough to hack a prototype together.

~Dennis Crowley

One of the biggest hurdles about Foursquare is you need to remember to use it.

~Dennis Crowley

I learned early on not to feel badly about reaching out for help, and not to feel embarrassed about saying that you're in over your head.

~Dennis Crowley

I used to snowboard 30 days a year. Now its down to eight.

~Dennis Crowley

I keep a notebook in my pocket, and I write down all the stuff we could ever do with Foursquare.
