Grief jumps out at you when you're least expecting it.

~Dominic Cooper

I stupidly ignored education completely. I found it dull and I preferred to cause chaos and have fun. I regret this massively now.

~Dominic Cooper

I kept on digging the hole deeper and deeper looking for the treasure chest until I finally lifted my head, looked up and realized that I had dug my own grave.

~Dominic Cooper

You should always think about things that excite you and that you can learn from.

~Dominic Cooper

I look like a turnip with hair in the morning!

~Dominic Cooper

Especially with comedy, you take massive risks because ultimately you're trying to be funny. If you're not funny, then it's really embarrassing and you look stupid.

~Dominic Cooper

I suppose theres an anger in all of us. Some hidden rage that you keep at bay.

~Dominic Cooper

I think you grow up wanting to be a racing driver. Then it dawns on you that it's not going to happen.

~Dominic Cooper

I've always been astonished by how wonderful he [Timur Bekmambetov] makes something look for so little. I think he shoots action like no one else.

~Dominic Cooper

You want to know if anyone's going to go see your film. You shouldn't worry about it or get hung up on it. So yea, you kind of monitor it.

~Dominic Cooper

The stunt guys are absolutely brilliant, but all this stuff [a scene] always looks better when you do it yourself.

~Dominic Cooper

I need something different [roles], always something just slightly different, that pushes you and challenges you.

~Dominic Cooper

I have always worked from that place, that if you are going to inhabit someone and get under their eyes, you need to have empathy.

~Dominic Cooper

The truth is lots of films are made, the majority of which are terrible.

~Dominic Cooper

Sometimes the roles you're being offered, leads in films aren't good enough. Actually it's you're better going and doing a radio play or a decent TV.

~Dominic Cooper

I remember, as a young man, wanting to experience a car going at those speeds and being visually nourished by something which I loved so much. And I wanted to race fast cars and have a good time.
