I'd love to start some movements. What I'm tired of is irony, and sarcasm, and music/movies/what have you, not having the guts to mean anything.

~Don Hertzfeldt

The only purpose of the visuals, in any film, is to serve the story.

~Don Hertzfeldt

To be animating at the same time, it's the ultimate freedom in filmmaking because you can literally put anything on the screen that you can imagine.

~Don Hertzfeldt

Usually the more money that something takes to make, the less interesting it's forced to become.

~Don Hertzfeldt

Maybe the most annoying questions is: "Where do you see yourself in so many years?" It's a terrifying answer no matter how you think of it.

~Don Hertzfeldt

Most people's personalities and roles are locked by the time they're nine or 10. I think there's something to that.

~Don Hertzfeldt

Tuesday's coming, did you bring your coat?

~Don Hertzfeldt

There's really no reason film and digital can't happily co-exist and benefit from one another. Anyone who tells you otherwise is just trying to sell you something.

~Don Hertzfeldt

No matter what decade science fiction comes from, it's representing the present.

~Don Hertzfeldt

I think one of the reasons I love science fiction so much is that it's - when it's ideally done right, it's a reflection on ourselves.

~Don Hertzfeldt

I'm still learning. I've never done a digital project before. And I'm pretty sure I did things to the software that weren't supposed to be done.

~Don Hertzfeldt

It's one of those things that if I was smart enough to explain it in words, I wouldn't have had to make a movie "World Of Tomorrow" out of it. It's a love letter to science fiction.

~Don Hertzfeldt

Fighting a cold, but I'm powering through. As they say, there's nothing better for a cold than doing interviews all day.

~Don Hertzfeldt

I've loved science fiction my whole life. But I've never made a science fiction movie.

~Don Hertzfeldt

Time travel is a thing. It can be very dangerous, and it's also very - it's an expensive thing to do.

~Don Hertzfeldt

Both the writing and the visuals in that sense are very exploratory. It goes back to my rule for myself [in] making it.

~Don Hertzfeldt

It's naturally kind of humiliating and strange to have a microphone; when you're young you just make movies, you don't worry about all the peripheral stuff that comes with it.

~Don Hertzfeldt

When you get questions that annoy you the art is answering them differently. If you're bored with it, then everyone will be bored with it.

~Don Hertzfeldt

After working so long on something like this, it's great to go out and meet people and see the reactions and remind yourself that, oh, yeah,, I wasn't just working in a cave by myself for no reason...
