The road of life twists and turns and no two directions are ever the same. Yet our lessons come from the journey, not the destination.

~Don Williams

Music is the balm that heals the forlorn ache of a distant star.

~Don Williams

Lessons that come easy are not lessons at all. They are gracious acts of luck. Yet lessons learned the hard way are lessons never forgotten.

~Don Williams

You're my bread when I'm hungry You're my shelter from troubled winds You're my anchor in life's ocean Most of all You're my best friend

~Don Williams

I don't believe that heaven waits for only those who congregate.

~Don Williams

When the sparrow sings its final refrain, the hush is felt nowhere more deeply than in the heart of man.

~Don Williams

Why is it that an extended olive branch often turns to a clinched fist of hatred?

~Don Williams

What we aspire to be is more than what we are yet less than what we are capable of.

~Don Williams

I don't believe virginity is common as it used to be.

~Don Williams

On an altar of prejudice we crucify our own, yet the blood of all children is the color of God.

~Don Williams

World unity is the wish of the hopeful, the goal of the idealist and the dream of the romantic. Yet it is folly to the realist and a lie to the innocent.

~Don Williams

Superman and Robinhood are still alive in Hollywood.

~Don Williams

Glorious is the tumult of the waves that crash against a vessel, preparing it for the seas of life.

~Don Williams

Certainly the soda companies, the junk food companies fought hard against this and today's agreement doesn't mean the battle is over, we still have to pass this bill.

~Don Williams

We need nearly every department, with the exception of police, fire and rescue, to look at what they can cut. Maybe there are some projects we need to put on hold.

~Don Williams

It's something families could do together. They can be passed on from father to son, or father to daughter.

~Don Williams

Volunteers are caring friends
