No, I'm not a comic book guy. I'm pretty fascinated with the subculture though and I do think that the world of comic books is such a natural transition into film.

~Donal Logue

I am in Ghost Rider but I'm not sure when it's coming out.

~Donal Logue

As the season progresses, it's like the doors open up to all the different worlds that were teased about in the pilot.

~Donal Logue

I remember working on movies like Gettysburg and feeling that Jeff Daniels was kind of a mentor.

~Donal Logue

Once a film is made and it exists, someone somewhere is going to watch it and that is kind of the magic of it all.

~Donal Logue

I think in a weird way that the entertainment industry is strangely more brutally honest than any other.

~Donal Logue

Follow your deepest dream, the one you had as a kid but stay focused.

~Donal Logue

I did pilots here and there but mostly I was doing little bits in movies.

~Donal Logue

It didn't get into Sundance although I showed a rough cut which is a mistake to all filmmakers out there.

~Donal Logue

Well Bill Martin and Mike Schiff were the creators and they knew we had to do a family show. Everybody came at it from the angle of having been a kid and a teenager.

~Donal Logue

Young actors are pretty fantastic. I can't even imagine doing stuff like that when I was a kid.

~Donal Logue

We own our movie and are now close to breaking even, even without finishing domestic DVD deals.

~Donal Logue

San Diego was fantastic. I think there's something about San Diego that is quite different than Los Angeles.

~Donal Logue

I wanna be the villain. Villains have fun.

~Donal Logue

I just personally feel like the best writing for actors exists in cable television.

~Donal Logue

I did a pilot for HBO, called One Percent, that they didn't end up picking up, but it was a pretty intense and dramatic piece.

~Donal Logue

There was something about that form of comedy that's just difficult. It never really felt like you could just fully commit to all the colors that you carry with you.

~Donal Logue

I've been lucky enough to go back and forth.

~Donal Logue

To be honest, when you're young and you watch The Deer Hunter for the first time, that's when you're like, "That's what I want to do."

~Donal Logue

The easiest and most accessible emotion is rage.

~Donal Logue

I have 52 first cousins. My mom and dad were the only two to move to North America, so I've got deep family there, but I'm a California kid.

~Donal Logue

I'm a huge fan of Michael Hirst, and I'm a huge fan of historical drama.

~Donal Logue

I've played some good villains, in the last few years. I'm good where I'm at. But it is fun playing villains, for sure.

~Donal Logue

It's nice to be in a world where you're not going to exhaust storylines with potential villains.

~Donal Logue

I like that kind of stuff. I like doing speeches. I've been lucky because I've had a lot of characters, over the years, who will have three or four page speeches.

~Donal Logue

You can judge a country by the way it treats its prisoners, and you can always judge a show by the way it treats people coming on to do these guest shots.

~Donal Logue

It's so nerve-wracking to go out into a stadium, feeling a billion eyes upon you when you mess up your touches. That's an overwhelming environment.

~Donal Logue

It's always surprised me that the most successful and really amazing shows are also the happiest environments, and very welcoming.

~Donal Logue

My characters are always utterly sympathetic to me.

~Donal Logue

I'd have to say my favorite thing about working on the show, and something that might be intriguing to other people, is that it's just such an amazingly welcoming environment to work in.

~Donal Logue
