As President Bush has said on numerous occasions, it is the government's role to create the conditions, the friendly environment, that will attract capital.

~Donald Evans

None who has known the charity of wine, Its pity, the cool logic of its spell Will waver in his loyalty, or dwell In any heaven where the grape lacks a shrine.

~Donald Evans

Well, you can, but tell you this, that when you've got an economy that is growing at 4.9% it is the fastest growth over the last 12 months we've seen in 20 years.

~Donald Evans

I will continue to stay very focused on the economy.

And when you really think about the 9-11 event, the horrific attack on our land here in America and the death of three thousand of our loved ones, it was a defining moment.

~Donald Evans

And so there are so many good things going on all across Iraq and unfortunately that's not what the American people see on TV or they don't read a lot about it in the newspapers.

~Donald Evans

All Moroccans are justifiably proud of the development of democratic institutions in Morocco.

~Donald Evans

As you know, I spent 30 years of my life in the private sector.

~Donald Evans

At the very outset I want to say how the people of America appreciate the steadfast support of the people of Morocco, the leadership of Morocco in our war against terrorism.

~Donald Evans

This is my first opportunity to visit this part of North Africa, so I am going to be able to go back home and talk about this beautiful country and encourage Americans to travel here.

~Donald Evans

Miracle woman ... Your mouth is wine, and all your tender flesh An easeful meadow for my weariness.
