Technology is not neutral. We're inside of what we make, and it's inside of us. We're living in a world of connections " and it matters which ones get made and unmade.

~Donna J. Haraway

We have all been injured, profoundly. We require regeneration, not rebirth, and the possibilities for our reconstitution include the utopian dream of the hope for a monstrous world without gender.

~Donna J. Haraway

A cyborg is a cybernetic organism, a hybrid of machine and organism, a creature of social reality as well as a creature of fiction.

~Donna J. Haraway

Why should our bodies end at the skin, or include at best other beings encapsulated by skin?

~Donna J. Haraway

I'd rather be a cyborg than a goddess.

~Donna J. Haraway

The boundary between science fiction and social reality is an optical illusion

~Donna J. Haraway

Though both are bound in the spiral dance, I would rather be a cyborg than a goddess.

~Donna J. Haraway

The cyborg would not recognize the garden of Eden; it is not made of mud and cannot dream of returning to dust.

~Donna J. Haraway

By the late twentieth century, our time, a mythic time, we are all chimeras, theorized and fabricated hybrids of machine and organism; in short, we are cyborgs.

~Donna J. Haraway

Feminist objectivity means quite simply situated knowledges

~Donna J. Haraway

The cyborg is a kind of disassembled and reassembled, postmodern collective and personal self. This is the self feminists must code.

~Donna J. Haraway

Single vision produces worse illusions than double vision or many-headed monsters.

~Donna J. Haraway

Grammar is politics by other means.

~Donna J. Haraway

Our machines are disturbingly lively, and we ourselves frighteningly inert.

~Donna J. Haraway

Consciousness of exclusion through naming is acute. Identities seem contradictory, partial, and strategic.

~Donna J. Haraway

Blasphemy has always seemed to require taking things very seriously.

~Donna J. Haraway

Myth and tool mutually constitute each other.
