It's the ones you love the most who can lift you in an instant, and destroy you without trying.

~Dorothy Koomson

To know other people thought he'd made a mistake vindicated me. I wasn't a bad girlfriend, he was simply going through a period of temporary insanity and he'd come to his senses soon.

~Dorothy Koomson

But feelings aren't like thoughts, they can't be changed at will.

~Dorothy Koomson

He just hijacks me. I love him. And I won't be able to give anyone a real chance until that's over.

~Dorothy Koomson

That's what came from having romance in your soul. You believe in things like love at first sight and perfect presents.

~Dorothy Koomson

Always regret the things you did do, never the things you didn't.

~Dorothy Koomson

The only thing for it is to use men for sex and never let any of them get so close they could hurt you.

~Dorothy Koomson

I don't want to rely on something that could be taken away at some point.

~Dorothy Koomson

She believed that owning a lots of things made you a better person. She didn't know - possibly didn't want to know - that happiness comes from the inside.

~Dorothy Koomson

Share too much and someone can hurt you.

~Dorothy Koomson

I'd spent so long trying to fit in, trying to be someone i wasn't, that i had no idea who i was any more.

~Dorothy Koomson

I would rather have nothing than something that was only alright.

~Dorothy Koomson

Love is a two-way street.

~Dorothy Koomson

When you can't be honest with people, you can't ever relax with them.

~Dorothy Koomson

Christmas is a time for families.

~Dorothy Koomson

I was in charge. Of it all. All the time. For ever.

~Dorothy Koomson

When you love someone, them being hurt is worse than any pain that you could suffer.

~Dorothy Koomson

Evil grows when good people do and say nothing.

~Dorothy Koomson

If we're going to change the world for the better, kids need to know that they can be feeling good about who they are and helping others.

~Dorothy Koomson

I think what love is changes over time, as you grow older, learn more, do more.
