I'm competitive. I'd love another chance to be part of a Stanley Cup championship team. That'd be awesome.

~Ed Belfour

It's always discouraging when you don't have things go your way. They are frustrated just like the rest of us.

~Ed Belfour

When people count me out, that gets me motivated.

~Ed Belfour

There's an old saying that when it gets tough the tough get going. You have to work your way through these things.

~Ed Belfour

I'm definitely one of the best. Always have been; always will be. I won't accept anything less.

~Ed Belfour

I have been dealing with back problems since 1995 when I was with the Blackhawks, and I've only missed part of one season because of it. That was last season in Toronto.

~Ed Belfour

I'm not a pretty goalie and I don't ever want to be called one, to tell you the truth.

~Ed Belfour

I take it upon myself to get motivated. I know when I have a bad game. It's something I think about myself when it happens, and I don't need someone to tell me I didn't do this or didn't do that.

~Ed Belfour

I simply don't accept losing well. I just feel whatever it takes to win, you have to do it.

~Ed Belfour

I've learned not to be as maniacal as I used to be.

~Ed Belfour

I hate to lose. Sometimes, I let my emotions get out of control.

~Ed Belfour

I'm trying to be among the elite night after night, year after year. I just want to be the best ... and I love winning.

~Ed Belfour

I love proving people wrong.

~Ed Belfour

Sometimes I can be misunderstood. I'm really competitive.

~Ed Belfour

One minute you're a slug and the next minute you're a hero, so you don't know what to think.

~Ed Belfour

It takes two guys on a team to do very well in the end and be successful.

~Ed Belfour

The more noise, the higher I get.

~Ed Belfour

My whole career I'm used to playing a lot of games.

~Ed Belfour

I'm still on the edge. It's just that I don't want to hurt the team by going over that edge. I've learned not to be as maniacal as I used to be.

~Ed Belfour

Winning the Stanley Cup in '99 was a dream come true. I'll never forget it.

~Ed Belfour

I've been real fortunate to be on a lot of great teams.
