I have some sarcastic sides of me.

~Eden Sher

I went to a Katy Perry concert, and I experienced pure bliss for the first time in my life.

~Eden Sher

On Christmas, my family and I see a movie and go out for Chinese food. We don't celebrate Christmas in the traditional sense, in that we do not actually celebrate Christmas.

~Eden Sher

I live in a constant state of hyperbole.

~Eden Sher

I remember the general anxiety of teenager, and I remember establishing some sort of appearance based on what my peers would think. And cliques, oh my God, the worst. The worst!

~Eden Sher

I actually got really interested in traveling to India after studying yoga. I have this wanderlust and don't like doing things without knowing about the history.

~Eden Sher

I am the middle child with an older and younger brother.

~Eden Sher

I mostly like to travel and volunteer because I get antsy if I stay in my comfort zone for too long.

~Eden Sher

New York, hands down. I don't want to be there in the winter, but even then it's an amazing place.

~Eden Sher

I love physical comedy. Comedy that comes from an emotional place is amazing too and lets me develop in a new way as an actor.

~Eden Sher

I travel light in general and I don't think I have ever had to check a bag.

~Eden Sher

When I was 15 and then 16 years old, I spent two summers in Nicaragua for a service project. I took Spanish classes the first week and got acclimated to Central America. I loved it.

~Eden Sher

The hair department is always on my case about washing my hair. I am incredibly lazy, and a brat about washing my hair.

~Eden Sher

I feel very strongly that young women have regressed a little bit. But I do get all preachy about it.

~Eden Sher

I'm kind of a weirdo about Krazy Glue. I don't know why, but I always have it in my purse.

~Eden Sher

I will have a largely happier week if I get to do a physical stunt.

~Eden Sher

I really can't watch myself. I just get too in my head about it and start overthinking everything.
