When you fall head over heels for someone, you're not falling in love with who they are as a person; you're falling in love with your idea of love.

~Elisabeth Rohm

You never stop learning. If you have a teacher, you never stop being a student.

~Elisabeth Rohm

I'm a straight shooter, a New York City girl. I see things as they are and call them as they are.

~Elisabeth Rohm

Now I can tell you something dirty. I like men who have a foot fetish. I absolutely think it's the most charming thing. It's just so romantic.

~Elisabeth Rohm

You've got to clock the hours and pay your dues. Then eventually, people will come to you. You have to be patient and appreciative.

~Elisabeth Rohm

I don't think people were betting on me, but they were giving me a chance. I think I rode a wave there, by being different in appearance than the girls who preceded me.

~Elisabeth Rohm

Life came in and put me in front of the camera before I could really make a decision, but I think I probably would have gravitated to film.

~Elisabeth Rohm

What made me fall in love with acting, which is my life, was watching other people perform. It made me hunger to do that.

~Elisabeth Rohm

I got out of college in 1997, and TV embraced me very quickly.

~Elisabeth Rohm

I always wanted the fairy tale, but now I want someone who is a great partner.

~Elisabeth Rohm

That difficult place to put your finger on about the world - it needs to be illustrated.

~Elisabeth Rohm

It's really nice to pass the ball when you're in an ensemble cast.

~Elisabeth Rohm

I have a lot of courage. I'm a realist.

~Elisabeth Rohm

I'm a great fan of Carey Lowell's and I loved Jill Hennessey.

~Elisabeth Rohm

Our goal as women should be to discover who we are and not who we think we should be or who the world wants us to be. It's not our responsibility to be arm candy!

~Elisabeth Rohm

It would probably break my heart to hear that people didn't like me. I don't look on the Internet.
