Women want to wear what they do because of what goes on in their heads. Their size and shape have practically nothing to do with it.

~Elizabeth Hawes

It is impossible to be completely abstract about clothes because they have no life unless they are worn. They must fit onto a body or they do not exist.

~Elizabeth Hawes

No garment which distorts the shape and motion of the wearer is beautiful, nor is any garment beautiful which emphasizes more than one or at most two of your sexual characteristics.

~Elizabeth Hawes

There is no word in English for chic. Why should there be? Everything chic is by legend French. Perhaps everything chic is in reality French.

~Elizabeth Hawes

Chic is a combination of style and fashion.

~Elizabeth Hawes

rule number one for all American women: You are to be seen and felt, but not heard. Listen and do as you are told and everything will be all right.

~Elizabeth Hawes

After marriage, all things change. And one of them better be you.

~Elizabeth Hawes

Is woman a lost sex? If so, is she the only lost sex? Has woman alone conceived all the vipers in our land?

~Elizabeth Hawes

Style doesn't change every month or every year. It only changes as often as there is a real change in the point of view and lives of the people for whom it is produced.

~Elizabeth Hawes

If you feel like getting a divorce, you are no exception to the general rule.

~Elizabeth Hawes

The French legend is a very simple one. All really beautiful clothes are designed in the houses of the French couturiers and all women want those clothes.

~Elizabeth Hawes

Yesterday people were permitted to change things. They will be permitted to advocate changing them tomorrow. It is only dangerous to think of changing anything today.

~Elizabeth Hawes

If one is willing to have children, rhythm is probably the best method of contraception.

~Elizabeth Hawes

All one really requires for putting anything over is enough energy and resistance to keep on plugging the idea. Someone will eventually fall.

~Elizabeth Hawes

I don't know when the word fashion came into being, but it was an evil day. For thousands of years people got along with something called style and maybe, in another thousand, we'll go back to it.

~Elizabeth Hawes

One of the most fascinating things about the world of fashion is that practically no one knows who inhabits it or why it exists. There are a few people who know how it works, but they won't tell.
