I was a total bad girl growing up.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I think women who don't understand boundaries are fascinating.

~Elizabeth Reaser

In my free time, I love to lay in bed.

~Elizabeth Reaser

Within any drama in anyone`s life, there`s always a way to find the humor in it. Without humor no one cares about whatever drama is going on.

~Elizabeth Reaser

People who know me would say they get a kick out of the fact that I'm always playing nice people, not that I'm not a nice person, but it's not a defining element.

~Elizabeth Reaser

Sometimes I think your face and your bearing and your energy have so much more to do with the jobs you get than the actual work and the time and the effort that you put in, or the talent even.

~Elizabeth Reaser

We had no idea what we were getting into. We thought we were just doing this little vampire movie in Portland. There was just a lot of silliness, a lot of hijinks and bad behavior.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I love, love, love to rehearse, but when you're rehearsing and then you go do it at night, it's a very weird thing.

~Elizabeth Reaser

How I Learned to Drive I think it's one of the great American plays. Its one of those plays that will be done forever, and it's timeless. I think it, for me, has so much heart and so much love.

~Elizabeth Reaser

It's interesting to me that I get cast as mothers and really maternal, sweet, nice people... Maybe I have a vulnerability or something; maybe that's what it is.

~Elizabeth Reaser

For the first movie, they had the girls in one hotel and the boys in another hotel. Then, we found out that they actually preferred their hotel, so we moved over there and all hell broke loose.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I get cast a lot of times in movies with nice people, for some reason, because I have a nice face or something. I mean, it's lucky I'm nice. Usually nice people in movies can be really boring.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I think part of the fun of being an actor is getting to work with different directors and seeing their take on it, what they're passionate about. They all have different ideas about your character.

~Elizabeth Reaser

Mostly I work really unconsciously, and I think if the scenes are really well written, which they are, and if I just throw myself into it, I don't really think about it.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I think Chris Weitz is an amazing director, and his sensibility - I wouldn't even know how to articulate it - it's just, he's a very sensitive, interesting guy.

~Elizabeth Reaser

My career's been a steady, interesting, weird, frustrating, fun journey at all different times.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I'm often uncomfortable with girliness, to be honest.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I don't like to watch myself. For the most part, I find it weird. It depresses me; I'm very critical.

~Elizabeth Reaser

I've stayed away from Twitter for a long time because I sort of didn't trust myself with such an intimate but very public way of relating to the world, but I feel like I've studied it enough.
