If your wearing lingerie that makes you feel glamorous, you're halfway thereto turning heads.

~Elle Macpherson

It's not vanity to feel you have a right to be beautiful. Women are taught to feel we're not good enough, that we must live up to someone else's standards. But my aim is to cherish myself as I am.

~Elle Macpherson

I feel beautiful when I'm at peace with myself. When I'm serene, when I'm a good person, when I've been considerate of others.

~Elle Macpherson

I come from a country where you don't wear clothes most of the year. Nudity is the most natural state.

~Elle Macpherson

Having children is my greatest achievement. It was my saviour. It switched my focus from the outside to the inside. My children are gifts, they remind me of what's important.

~Elle Macpherson

You have nothing to sell except for the image: The image is everything.

~Elle Macpherson

I used to wear heels because I wanted to show people I wasn't ashamed of being tall.

~Elle Macpherson

I feel beautiful when I'm at peace with myself.

~Elle Macpherson

Underwear is such an emotional thing.

~Elle Macpherson

The birth of my sons. The birth of new emotions...what a privilege.
What a blessing.

~Elle Macpherson

I like colourful knickers, but most importantly a great pair of knickers should be taken off with more joy than they were put on.

~Elle Macpherson

Being a public person doesn't necessarily mean you're a piece of meat for everybody.

~Elle Macpherson

I wanted so badly to study ballet, but it was really all about wearing the tutu.

~Elle Macpherson

You check to see the facts are correct where business is concerned but if I read everything that was written about me, I'd end up feeling totally insecure about myself.

~Elle Macpherson

A celebrity name is never enough for an intelligent mass market... truly successful businesses are born of passion and heartfelt interest.

~Elle Macpherson

I don't believe we own our children, they're their own souls who make their own choices, we just guide and support them.

~Elle Macpherson

G-strings are uncomfortable. Girls want real knickers now.

~Elle Macpherson

I try to meditate every morning. It relaxes me, clears my mind, and sets my day off on the right foot before things get too manic.

~Elle Macpherson

I've had two children and no surgery. My body is the result of good genes and a healthy attitude.

~Elle Macpherson

For me, just being on the cover of a magazine wasn't enough. I began to think, what value is there in doing something in which you have no creative input?

~Elle Macpherson

I choose movies, I never choose roles. I look at the script. I look at the director. I look at the other actors - and then the role.

~Elle Macpherson

For a while I was on the cover of every Sports Illustrated swimsuit issue, which was regarded as the pinnacle of success in America.

~Elle Macpherson

People in the fashion industry have used the press a lot more than people in the film industry, because you have nothing to sell except for the image: The image is everything.

~Elle Macpherson

I just happen to like the work. I like preparing for a role. I like reading. I like analyzing. I like literature. I like emotions. I like working with other actors.

~Elle Macpherson

But I do know focusing on the exterior doesn't make me happy. If I want peace and serenity, it won't be reached by getting thinner or fatter.

~Elle Macpherson

I don't look at myself in the mirror. I'll flash past a mirror in the morning to check how I'm dressed, that's it.

~Elle Macpherson

Acting and modeling have nothing to do with each other.

~Elle Macpherson

I don't have a problem with nudity. I never have. I was born naked. I'd like to be buried naked. It's a way of life in Australia.

~Elle Macpherson

I think that natural beauty is very charismatic... I just believe in enhancing who we are rather than trying to manipulate or change it too much.

~Elle Macpherson

Anyway, I believe you don't fix the inside by putting something on the outside.

~Elle Macpherson

It's always been very clear to me that I was going to be a mother and that my purpose in life was to give life.

~Elle Macpherson

The image is where you have dinner at night, who you're seeing. It's what car you drive and how you dress. People in the industry sell that, and it creates a dream. There's nothing else.

~Elle Macpherson

As long as people want to see me in movies, and as long as I find it interesting, I'll keep working.

~Elle Macpherson

Everything I do is about women honouring themselves, treating themselves and taking care of themselves.

~Elle Macpherson
