Everything in the world had happened to them and kept on happening. They didn't care. They liked it that way.

~Ellen Gilchrist

All you have to do to educate a child is leave him alone and teach him to read. The rest is brainwashing.

~Ellen Gilchrist

The first thing a writer has to do is find a new source of income.

~Ellen Gilchrist

We live at the level of our language. Whatever we can articulate we can imagine or understand or explore.

~Ellen Gilchrist

One of the reasons I am happy now is that I did the work I had always dreamed of doing. But I didn't start doing it seriously and professionally until I was forty years old.

~Ellen Gilchrist

Cuddle up. Rain always stops. It always stops. It always does.

~Ellen Gilchrist

Work is the thing that stays. Work is the thing that sees us through.

~Ellen Gilchrist

Don't ruin the present with the ruined past.

~Ellen Gilchrist

Family and work. Family and work. I can let them be at war, with guilt as their nuclear weapon and mutually assured destruction as their aim, or I can let them nourish each other.

~Ellen Gilchrist

My main home is in Fayetteville, Arkansas, a college town in the Ozark Mountains. I live on the highest hill in a quiet cul-de-sac, surrounded by friends.

~Ellen Gilchrist

At one level inspiration is the ability to see beauty and mystery in everything men and women do.

~Ellen Gilchrist

Dance in the fullness of time.

~Ellen Gilchrist

A piece of writing is the product of a series of explosions in the mind.
