It's not that music is too imprecise for words, but too precise.

~Felix Mendelssohn

Life and art are not two different things.

~Felix Mendelssohn

This is what I think art is and what I demand of it: that it pull everyone in, that it show one person another's most intimate thoughts and feelings, that it throw open the window of the soul.

~Felix Mendelssohn

The trombone is too sacred for frequent use.

~Felix Mendelssohn

Pray to God that He might create in us a clean heart and renew a right spirit within us.

~Felix Mendelssohn

The essence of beauty is unity in variety.

~Felix Mendelssohn

These, too, seem to me so ambiguous, so vague, so easily misunderstood in comparison to genuine music, which fills the soul with a thousand things better than words.

~Felix Mendelssohn

Never mind, put any book on the piano, and someone can turn from time to time, so I need not look as though I played by heart.

~Felix Mendelssohn
