Only those who overflow with love will build the happy and enlightened world of the future.

~Fethullah Gulen

A person is truly a human if he or she learns, and teaches, and inspires others. It is difficult to regard as truly human someone who is ignorant and has no desire to learn.

~Fethullah Gulen

Only a few people seem to realize that social harmony and peace with nature, between people, and within the individual only can come about when the material and spiritual realms are reconciled.

~Fethullah Gulen

Mature people never make difference of opinion a means of conflict.

~Fethullah Gulen

The purpose of our creation is obvious: to reach our utmost goals of belief, knowledge, and spirituality; to reflect on the universe, humanity, and God, and thus prove our value as human beings.

~Fethullah Gulen

Love is one of the most subtle blessings that the All-Merciful One has bestowed upon humanity.

~Fethullah Gulen

One will never reach distant shores, if he chooses to remain upon the dock, In fear his little ship of dreams may be dashed against the rocks.

~Fethullah Gulen

I have repeatedly declared that it is impossible for a true Muslim to be a terrorist, nor can a terrorist be regarded as a true Muslim.

~Fethullah Gulen

Tolerance is our safest refuge and our fortress against the handicaps that arise from schism, factions, and the difficulties inherent in reaching mutual agreement

~Fethullah Gulen

I have never imagined being or wished to be chosen as something important in the world. I have always tried to be a humble servant of God and a humble member of humanity.

~Fethullah Gulen

The Muslim world suffers from internal divisions, antidemocratic practices, and the violation of fundamental human rights and freedoms.

~Fethullah Gulen

Islam as a religion focuses primarily on the immutable aspects of life and existence, whereas a political system concerns only social aspects of our worldly life.

~Fethullah Gulen

A small minority in Turkey even accuses me of having political ambitions, when in fact I have been struggling with various illnesses for many years.

~Fethullah Gulen

Terrorism is one of the cardinal sins that the Koran threatens with hellfire.

~Fethullah Gulen

Some people may regard my views well and show respect to me, and I hope they have not deceived themselves in doing so. Some people think that I am a leader of a movement.

~Fethullah Gulen

Muslims have never been and never can be so base as to expect any solutions to their problems through terror.

~Fethullah Gulen

Islam abhors and absolutely condemns terrorism and any terrorist activity.

~Fethullah Gulen

Politics can be a factor neither in shaping Islam nor directing Muslims' acts and attitudes in Islam's name.

~Fethullah Gulen

I am not indifferent to the appreciation of kind people. [The voters were] extremely kind in naming me the world's top public intellectual, a title to which I can never see myself as entitled.
