Christ didn't leave us a book of instructions; He left us a body, a family - a Church. If it were perfectly clear, there wouldn't be any freedom.

~Francis George

That question in marriage is mutual submission, really - the next verse goes on: "husbands love your wife as Christ loves the Church."

~Francis George

The primary moral judgment on candidates and their positions is to be made in the light of their concern for protecting human life from conception to natural death.

~Francis George

Faith is not a contract. Faith is surrender. If no other relationship in our experience is one of self-surrender, if it's all contractual, people won't know how to believe.

~Francis George

The trust is a matter of love and faith is a matter of truth. The two together give you the guidance that you look for.

~Francis George

Equality, therefore, becomes the criterion because we can handle all that in process, but we can't handle that as principle without infringing on freedom.

~Francis George
