Today, with computer-generated visual effects, everything is possible. So we've seen everything. If it can be imagined, it can be put on screen.

~Gabriel Campisi

Screenwriting and making movies is really playing make-believe like most of us did as children.

~Gabriel Campisi

For as long as I can remember, I've always had a wild imagination and always enjoyed reading and writing.

~Gabriel Campisi

There is truly no other business in the world like making movies. It's unique, it's extremely demanding and difficult, but it's also the most rewarding.

~Gabriel Campisi

Dreams do come true. But it will involve a lot of hard work, a lot of dedication, a lot of studying.

~Gabriel Campisi

Get back up, shake the dust off and keep going. Keep going, because Hollywood is set up to make you fail.

~Gabriel Campisi

My tombstone would someday read I died keeled over at my computer writing a screenplay or a business plan.

~Gabriel Campisi

I've already made several friends-for-life from the latest movies I've worked on, and I know I'll make several more in the years to come.

~Gabriel Campisi

Every film is a new adventure, and I always meet new cast and crew members that blow my mind.

~Gabriel Campisi

The original Star Wars ("A New Hope") has had the greatest impact on me of all the films I've ever watched. It's really what sparked something in me to want to make movies.

~Gabriel Campisi

I spent several years in the film finance business, but I returned to what I loved most about the industry - actual filmmaking, producing, writing and directing.

~Gabriel Campisi

I found my father's Super8mm film camera when I was around eight years old and started shooting with it. I had no idea what I was doing at the time, but that's really where my filmmaking began.

~Gabriel Campisi

I wrote several screenplays over the years to really polish my craft and learn from my mistakes.

~Gabriel Campisi

You have to be willing to give it your all and sacrifice to make your dreams come true.
