They must find it hard to take Truth for authority who have so long mistaken Authority for Truth.

~Gerald Massey

They must find it difficult ... those who have taken authority as the truth, rather than truth as the authority.

~Gerald Massey

When man to man shall be friend and brother.

~Gerald Massey

The deepest dark reveals the starriest hope.

~Gerald Massey

I know no better way of waging the battle for Truth than arraying the facts face to face on either side and letting them fight it out.

~Gerald Massey

A sweet new blossom of humanity, fresh fallen from God's own home, to flower on earth

~Gerald Massey

There's no dearth of kindness In the world of ours; Only in our blindness We gather thorns for flowers.

~Gerald Massey

Love rays us round as glory swathes a star, And, from the mystic touch of lips and palms, Streams rosy warmth!

~Gerald Massey

And thou hast stolen a jewel, Death! Shall light thy dark up like a Star.
A Beacon kindling from afar Our light of love and fainting faith.

~Gerald Massey

Not by appointment do we meet Delight And Joy; they heed not our expectancy; But round some corner in the streets of life, They, on a sudden, clasp us with a smile.

~Gerald Massey

This world is full of beauty, as other worlds above, and if we did our duty, it might be as full of love.

~Gerald Massey

All the rarest hues of human life take radiance and are rainbowed out in tears.

~Gerald Massey

The heart is like an instrument whose strings Steal magic music from Life's mystic frets.

~Gerald Massey

In this dim world of clouding cares, We rarely know, till wildered eyes See white wings lessening up the skies, The angels with us unawares.

~Gerald Massey

In the wounds our sufferings plough immortal love sows sovereign seed.

~Gerald Massey

Upon Love's bosom Earth floats like an Ark Safely through all the Deluge of the dark.

~Gerald Massey

The Future, like a fruitfuller Summer, sits Ripening her Eden silently.

~Gerald Massey

Our dearest hopes in pangs are born, The kingliest Kings are crown'd with thorn.

~Gerald Massey

Still all the day the iron wheels go onward, Grinding life down from its mark.
