I don't snack all the time, but I do sometimes drink I more than I should.

~Gerard Depardieu

Catherine Deneuve is the man I've always wanted to be.

~Gerard Depardieu

If cinema is a woman then certainly there are many shores.

~Gerard Depardieu

At twenty you have many desires which hide the truth, but beyond forty there are only real and fragile truths - your abilities and your failings.

~Gerard Depardieu

The stage is like a cage of light. People are no longer afraid of you - they are the ones out there in the dark, watching.

~Gerard Depardieu

What you eat and drink is 50 percent of life.

~Gerard Depardieu

I like the idea of bringing cartoon characters to life... and although the Americans have already attempted this, their culture is not sufficiently humane to make it work.

~Gerard Depardieu

The relationship between an actor and a director is like a love story between a man and a woman. I'm sure sometimes I'm the woman.

~Gerard Depardieu

One of the advantages of my profession is I come into contact with many people.

~Gerard Depardieu

The wine I produce is not for keeping. Its the wine you want when meeting friends for a game of cards.

~Gerard Depardieu

I'm curious about people. That's what I've always done since I've been a small boy. I'm curious about others.

~Gerard Depardieu

In the film industry, all the money is focused on television and the stupidity of American cinema.

~Gerard Depardieu

My only model for being a father was my father, an illiterate on the margin of society.

~Gerard Depardieu

I have learnt a lot about my body since my heart attack. I don't drink as much now as before.

~Gerard Depardieu

I'm living in the present. I have no ambition. It's true. But I want to live.

~Gerard Depardieu

I would never let myself knock out a journalist.

~Gerard Depardieu

I never really like the characters I play. I only come to love them afterwards.

~Gerard Depardieu

I've had affairs. But I'm not the sort of man who has 10,000 affairs.

~Gerard Depardieu

I do this profession. I'm an actor. And it is, for me, an opportunity to meet people.
