Truth does not change because it is, or is not, believed by a majority of the people.

~Giordano Bruno

I beg you, reject antiquity, tradition, faith, and authority! Let us begin anew by doubting everything we assume has been proven!

~Giordano Bruno

The Divine Light is always in man, presenting itself to the senses and to the comprehension, but man rejects it.

~Giordano Bruno

The fools of the world have been those who have established religions, ceremonies, laws, faith, rule of life.

~Giordano Bruno

If the first button of one's coat is wrongly buttoned, all the rest will be crooked.

~Giordano Bruno

With luck on your side, you can do without brains.

~Giordano Bruno

Time is the father of truth, its mother is our mind.

~Giordano Bruno

All things are in the Universe, and the universe is in all things: we in it, and it in us; in this way everything concurs in a perfect unity.

~Giordano Bruno

What can be more stupid than to be in pain about future things and absent ones which at present are not felt?

~Giordano Bruno

The gems of philosophy are not less precious because they are not understood.

~Giordano Bruno

I fought, and therefore, believed in my victory. There is more to the fact that I didn't fear death and preferred a brave death instead of a life of an idiot.

~Giordano Bruno

What you receive from others is a testimony to their virtue; but all that you do for others is the sign and clear indication of your own.

~Giordano Bruno

Innumerable suns exist; innumerable earths revolve around these suns in a manner similar to the way the seven planets revolve around our sun. Living beings inhabit these worlds.

~Giordano Bruno

Nature is none other than God in all things. Animals and plants are living effects of Nature; Whence all of God is in all things.

~Giordano Bruno

Why, I say, do so few understand and apprehend the internal power?... He who in himself sees all things, is all things.

~Giordano Bruno

I await your sentence with less fear than you pass it. The time will come when all will see what I see.

~Giordano Bruno

Magicians can do more by means of faith than physicians by the truth.

~Giordano Bruno

I who am in the night will move into the day.

~Giordano Bruno

I don't care if 1 is prime or not, if 2 is prime or not, if 3 is prime or not. All I care is that there are more stars in the heavens than primes in the earth.

~Giordano Bruno

Divine love does not weigh down, nor carry his servant captive and enslaved to the lowest depths, but raises him, supports him and magnifies him above all liberty whatsoever.

~Giordano Bruno

The soul is not the body and it may be in one body or in another, and pass from body to body.

~Giordano Bruno

Time takes all and gives all

~Giordano Bruno

Since I have spread my wings to purpose high, The more beneath my feet the clouds I see, The more I give the winds my pinions free, Spurning the earth and soaring to the sky.

~Giordano Bruno

I have declared infinite worlds to exist beside this our earth. It would not be worthy of God to manifest Himself in less than an infinite universe.

~Giordano Bruno

God is the universal substance in existing things. He comprises all things. He is the fountain of all being. In Him exists everything that is.

~Giordano Bruno

It may be you fear more to deliver judgment upon me than I fear judgment.

~Giordano Bruno

The stars in the sky are really other suns like our own, around which orbit other planets. (paraphrase)

~Giordano Bruno

It is unity that doth enchant me. By her power I am free though thrall, happy in sorrow, rich in poverty, and quick even in death.

~Giordano Bruno

Anything we take in the Universe, because it has in itself that which is All in All, includes in its own way, the entire soul of the world, which is entirely in any part of it.

~Giordano Bruno

Maybe you who condemn me are in greater fear than I who am condemned.

~Giordano Bruno

There is one basic cause of all effects.

~Giordano Bruno

I understand Being in all and over all, as there is nothing without participation in Being, and there is no being without Essence. Thus nothing can be free of the Divine Presence.

~Giordano Bruno

The hammers must be swung in cadence, when more than one is hammering the iron.

~Giordano Bruno

Our bodily eye findeth never an end, but is vanquished by the immensity of space.

~Giordano Bruno

The soul, in its power, is present in some way in the entire universe, because it apprehends substances which are not included in the body in which it lives, although they are related to it.

~Giordano Bruno

The infinity of All ever bringing forth anew, and even as infinite space is around us, so is infinite potentiality, capacity, reception, malleability, matter.

~Giordano Bruno

I pray you, magnificent Sir, do not trouble yourself to return to us, but await our coming to you.

~Giordano Bruno

There is in the universe neither center nor circumference.

~Giordano Bruno

The single spirit doth simultaneously temper the whole together; this is the single soul of all things; all are filled with God .

~Giordano Bruno

The universe is then one, infinite, immobile. ... It is not capable of comprehension and therefore is endless and limitless, and to that extent infinite and indeterminable, and consequently immobile.

~Giordano Bruno

That which we have lived is nothing; that which we live is a point; that which we have to live is not yet a point, but may be a point which, together, shall be and shall have been.

~Giordano Bruno

Desire urges me on, while fear bridals me.

~Giordano Bruno

There is no law governing all things.

~Giordano Bruno

Perhaps your fear in passing judgement is greater than mine in receiving it.

~Giordano Bruno

You explain right well, and you shew that you understand argument and are not a mere sophist since you accept that which cannot be denied.

~Giordano Bruno

All things are in all.

~Giordano Bruno

Perchance you who pronounce my sentence are in greater fear than I who receive it.

~Giordano Bruno

In this infinite space is placed our universe (whether by chance, by necessity, or by providence I do not now consider).
