I offer neither pay, nor quarters, nor food; I offer only hunger, thirst, forced marches, battles and death. Let him who loves his country with his heart, and not merely with his lips, follow me.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

Necessity does not submit to debate.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

Let him who loves his country in his heart, and not his lips only, follow me.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

Bacchus has drowned more men than Neptune.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

I insist that men shall have the right to work out their lives in their own way, always allowing to others the right to work out their lives in their own way, too.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

A bold onset is half the battle.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

To this wonderful page in our country's history another more glorious still will be added, and the slave shall show at last to his free brothers a sharpened sword forged from the links of his fetters.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

Let those only return to their homes who are called by the imperative duties which they owe to their families, and those who by their glorious wounds have deserved the credit of their country.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

If these hands, used to fighting, would be acceptable to His Holiness, we most thankfully dedicate them to the service of him who deserves so well of the Church and of the fatherland.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

Man created God, not God, man

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

I utter this word with deepest affection and from the very bottom of my heart.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

The priest is the personification of falsehood.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

Ah, no, far be from me a thought which I loathe like poison.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi

Posterity will call you the great emancipator, a more enviable title than any crown could be, and greater than any merely mundane treasure.

~Giuseppe Garibaldi
