Once a month, a woman turns from a beautiful flower into an angry hippopotamus.

~Grace Helbig

When life gives you lemons, you exchange them at the store for something more edible.

~Grace Helbig

Be the weirdest little weird in all Weird Town.

~Grace Helbig

Young love is so ridiculous, as is middle-aged and old love. And it's also hilarious. When have you ever felt so vulnerable and wonderful and terrible at the same time?

~Grace Helbig

I feel like I have no real solid plans like, "this is what I'm going to do and I will do it by 2017" or whatever.

~Grace Helbig

I think hard-working people have more opportunities no matter what on YouTube, regardless of gender.

~Grace Helbig

It's insanely difficult to ask an audience to go somewhere other than YouTube to watch videos.

~Grace Helbig

I want to do whatever people allow me to do with great people and have a great time doing it.

~Grace Helbig

I imagine 'Daily Grace' as, like, your awkward older sister who tries to give you advice.

~Grace Helbig

There are no gatekeepers. So all the things we want people to cast us in, we can just make ourselves.

~Grace Helbig

If anything, being a female has afforded me opportunities on YouTube that I necessarily didn't have in doing traditional comedy and auditioning in TV and film, and that whole world.

~Grace Helbig

I can say for myself that I feel like I've gotten a ton of opportunities in the digital space and not a lot in the traditional space when I was first starting out.

~Grace Helbig

A lot of YouTubers, because they have such pride in what they do, have a negative connotation towards television. I don't feel that way. I feel like it's another medium to reach a broader audience.

~Grace Helbig

TV has been my goal since before I started YouTube.

~Grace Helbig

After doing a total of five years of Daily Grace, you kind of get burned out on doing the same thing over and over again, so I am allowing myself to not have totally any specific structure.

~Grace Helbig

When I've done somewhat scripted stuff, it feels a little flat. It feels like there's not much life behind it.

~Grace Helbig

I have terrible taste in things: music, movies, TV shows. I love all the guilty pleasures: Bravo, Real Housewives.
