

Guy Gavriel Kay Quotes

*Men, Heart, World, Book, Writing, Children, Blessed, Knowing, Sadness,
People, Made, Running, Trying, Longing, Sometimes, Real, Journey, Soul, Falling In Love, Needs*

There are no wrong turnings. Only paths we had not known we were meant to walk.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

She was owner and captive, both, of a bitterly divided heart.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

We salvage what we can, what truly matters to us, even at the gates of despair.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

The deeds of men, as footprints in the desert. Nothing under the circling moons is fated to last. Even the sun goes down.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

One didn't stop to talk with creatures from one's nightmares.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

After a while, you start to realize that you should write a book you would want to read. I try to write a book I would enjoy.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

You'd never killed anyone. Then you had.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

What man would dare believe that all he planned might come to pass?

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Ice is for death and endings.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

By things so achingly small are lives measured and marred.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

A hand fought best when it made a fist.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Words were power, words tried to change you, to shape bridges of longing that no one could ever really cross.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

How we remember changes how we have lived. Time runs both ways. We make stories of our lives.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

In this world, where we find ourselves, we need compassion more than anything, I think, or we are all alone.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

The heart has its own laws... and the truth is... the truth is that you are the law of mine.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Why did becoming accustomed to something have to render its pleasures stale.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

most hated by the dark, for their name is light.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

We must be what we are, or we become our enemies.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Dave hung up. And unplugged the phone. With a fierce and bitter pain he stared at it, watching how, over and over again, it didn't ring.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

We are the total of our longings.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

She had been a solitary child, and then solitary as a woman, drawn into an orbit of her own that took her away from others, even those who would be her friends.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

But if you couldn't do everything, did that mean you did nothing?

~Guy Gavriel Kay

It is always difficult, even with the best will in the world, to look back a long way and see anything resembling the truth.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

You have to be afraid for it to count as bravery.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Sometimes you didn't really arrive at a conclusion about your life, you just discovered that you already had.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Do you know the wish of your heart?" - The Darkest Road

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Eanna love us, Adaon preserve us, Morian guard our souls.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

What mortal knew the way their fate line would run?

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Liu Fang is a truly gifted, world-famous player of the pipa and the guzheng, classical Chinese stringed instruments.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

It can be hard to write a skillfully entertaining fiction, but a great book wants to be more, and wants more from us.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Irritation for some men was their response to strain.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

It was different, though, knowing something in your thoughts and then hearing it confirmed, made real, planted in the world like a tree

~Guy Gavriel Kay

As many have noted, the peril for authors is that our work space is too easily our play space.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Weariness, sometimes more than anything else, can bring an end to war.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

I have always argued, in a good novel, interesting things happen to interesting people.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

The world could bring you poison in a jewelled cup, or surprising gifts. Sometimes you didn't know which of them it was.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Lazy poets try to elicit a reader's response with words designed to tug at the heart.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

... everyone knew that all islands were worlds unto themselves, that to come to an island was to come to another world.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

I will not say I am sorry, but I can tell you that I grieve.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

The military preferred - invariably - those who could be readily defined, assigned roles, understood, and controlled.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Men made wagers with their judgment, their allegiances, their resources.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Writing is never, ever easy but I wake up every morning grateful for the gift of being able to do this.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

When I'm all grown up, come what may, I'll build a boat to carry me away

~Guy Gavriel Kay

There was some sadness in how that could happen, falling out of love with something that had shaped you. Or even people who had.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

One man sees a riselka: his life forks there. Two men see a riselka: one of them shall die. Three men see a riselka: one is blessed, one forks, one shall die.

~Guy Gavriel Kay

Related Links:

- Men Quotes
- Heart Quotes
- World Quotes
- Book Quotes
- Writing Quotes
- Children Quotes
- Blessed Quotes
- Knowing Quotes
- Sadness Quotes
- People Quotes
- Made Quotes
- Running Quotes
- Trying Quotes
- Longing Quotes
- Sometimes Quotes
- Real Quotes
- Journey Quotes
- Soul Quotes
- Falling In Love Quotes
- Needs Quotes