We can no more create the perfect environment for our children than we can create perfect children.

~Hanna Rosin

In American fertility clinics, 75 percent of couples are requesting girls and not boys.

~Hanna Rosin

I think we should all call ourselves feminists.

~Hanna Rosin

If men can quilt and take over the kitchen, then women can pick up a wrench and fix a leaky pipe.

~Hanna Rosin

Breast-feeding does not belong in the realm of facts and hard numbers; it is much too intimate and elemental.

~Hanna Rosin

NASA projects often have romantic names that link into a long history of exploration and adventure: Atlantis and Discovery, for example.

~Hanna Rosin

The launch of a space shuttle can still make you weep with amazement and wonder, if you happen to be watching it.

~Hanna Rosin

Pop culture is like our subconscious.

~Hanna Rosin

As we get used to women in power, we are likely to discover that they behave much like powerful men - vain, entitled, always looking for more.

~Hanna Rosin

If my own current husband was suddenly a stay-at-home dad, it would be emasculating. That would be hard for me.

~Hanna Rosin

Feminism was about making women's lives less constrained and giving them more choices.

~Hanna Rosin

Men need marriage more than women do. In fact, they need it to survive.

~Hanna Rosin

Marriages are failing, and mothers are raising their children alone. Many women would rather remain alone than marry a man who can't contribute anything to the family's income.

~Hanna Rosin

Although they are unfailingly gracious, evangelicals are not so good at respecting professional boundaries.

~Hanna Rosin

I grew up in a working-class Israeli family, which was feminist only in its female-dominated structure.

~Hanna Rosin

I deeply believe that men and women need each other.

~Hanna Rosin

I could do a franchise for the end of everything. 'The End of Dogs,' 'The End of Cats.'

~Hanna Rosin

Green jobs - those are jobs that feel like new economy jobs; they do require some training.

~Hanna Rosin

Factories not what they used to be - they're all extremely high-tech.

~Hanna Rosin

Blog culture has a hard time digesting narratives, but it has an easy time digesting 'big ideas' pieces.

~Hanna Rosin

Attachment parenting demands not just certain actions you take with your baby but also certain emotional states to accompany those actions.

~Hanna Rosin

In China, a lot of the opening up of private entrepreneurship is happening because women are starting businesses, small businesses, faster than men.

~Hanna Rosin

Maybe there's something about the outsidersness of being Jewish that makes for a fiery feminist type.

~Hanna Rosin

One way the Tea Party has benefited female candidates - and the conservative movement generally - is by consciously steering clear of social issues.

~Hanna Rosin

The general image of a man in an American sitcom is like a complete moron. You'd think the industry was run by a feminist cabal.

~Hanna Rosin

To apply for a gifted program, children as young as 4 are required to sit through hour-long verbal exams.

~Hanna Rosin

We can keep whatever we like about manhood but adjust the parts of the definition that are keeping men back.

~Hanna Rosin

If you look at total numbers in the working and middle class, men still on average make more than women.

~Hanna Rosin

We are still proprietary over the domestic realm even as we take over new professional realms, and that is a real problem.

~Hanna Rosin

In my mother's day, she didn't go to college. Not a lot of women did. Now for every two men who get a college degree, three women will do the same.
